TOP DEFENCE PANEL APPROVES ACQUISITION WORTH ₹52,000 CRORE

The Defence Acquisition Council (DAC) meeting on Friday cleared major capital acquisition proposals worth around ₹52,000 crore | P11

OP SINDOOR'S INFLUENCE ON PRIORITIES

The approvals by the DAC, chaired by Defence Minister Rajnath Singh, pointed to how Operation Sindoor influenced acquisition priorities, as counter-drone systems, layered air defence, anti-tank weapons and persistent surveillance platforms were on the shopping list. The Army's request for the indigenous Akash-Tarang, an anti-UAV system, was cleared

FIRST MEET AFTER BIG SHAKE-UP AT THE TOP

- This was the first DAC meet since a shake-up at the top, with Gen Raja Subramani taking over as Chief of Defence Staff, Gen Dhiraj Seth as Army chief and Admiral Krishna Swaminathan as Navy chief
- DAC's "acceptance of necessity" is the first of the procurement steps, which includes tendering, technical evaluation and cost negotiations

Govt plans separate law to address AI challenges

Existing legal framework inadequate to regulate evolving tech: IT secy

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

WITH policymakers across the globe grappling with the challenges posed by artificial intelligence (AI), from disinformation to cyber security threats, the government is considering the option of bringing in a separate legislation to regulate AI, IT secretary S Krishnan said on Friday.

India's existing legal framework has managed to address the initial concerns around AI, such as deepfakes and labour-related issues. However, as the AI technology evolves and new threats emerge, a dedicated regulation or law may be required to deal with them, Krishnan added.

"In AI and cybersecurity, the regulations regarding the legal process in India have been adequate in addressing our initial concerns... We addressed these by making new rules under the existing laws. But now we feel that we may need to think more deeply and make additional regulations. We may need to make a new law," Krishnan said.

Without giving a timeframe for the proposed law, he said: "It is a conversation which has commenced... My minister (IT minister Ashwini Vaishnaw) and I have both been on record earlier that we will look at AI regulation when the time is right, and it appears that the time is getting right, and we will start looking at it."

The IT secretary, who was speaking on the sidelines of a CII cybersecurity event in Delhi on Friday, also acknowledged the knotty issue of VPN (virtual private network) service providers refusing to register in India and offering services from other countries.

"There is a system for VPNs to register, but many do not register in India and offer services from elsewhere. We have to look at both technology solutions and legal solutions to address this issue," he said.

VPN encrypts internet connection and routes it through a remote server to enhance privacy, security, and access to restricted content. It provides anonymity to users who can bypass government censorship and access sites that are banned in their country.

Krishnan said the government has asked Google Play Store and Apple App Store to remove three Chinese apps—BAT-BMS, Lossigy and Epoch-i-ion—after they were found to have been misused to disable battery-operated vehicles remotely. The decision was taken after viral videos showed e-rickshaws being rendered inoperable through a remote shutdown feature in the BAT-BMS app, triggering concerns over cybersecurity risks associated with internet-connected vehicle management systems.

"A couple of apps came to our notice. Both have been taken down," Krishnan said, adding that any other app found to be similarly misused would also be blocked.

META SUMMONED OVER CHILD SEX ABUSE VIDEOS

IT minister Ashwini Vaishnaw has directed his ministry to summon Meta officials over Instagram ads promoting child sexual abuse material. According to sources in the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY), the govt has sought an explanation from Meta. The move follows a BBC report on paid Insta ads with the key words "rape video" and "child video". These advertisements allegedly redirected users to Telegram channels that sell child sexual abuse material. Meanwhile, Meta representatives met MeitY officials on Friday in connection with the government's earlier notice on the proposed "usernames" feature on WhatsApp

4 China firms get waiver for bids in power infra projects

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE Centre has granted a two-year exemption to four China-linked electrical equipment makers with manufacturing facilities in India, allowing them to participate in government tenders for critical power infrastructure projects.

The four companies are TBEA Energy India, a wholly owned subsidiary of the Chinese company TBEA Group; Nanjing Electric India, a wholly owned subsidiary of the Chinese power equipment manufacturer Nanjing Electric; New Northeast Electric India, which has technology transfer ties with Chinese power sector companies; and Taikai Electric (India), a subsidiary of China-headquartered Taikai Group.

The exemption has been granted by the finance ministry under the Public Procurement Order (Rule 144(xi) of the General Financial Rules, 2017), which restricts companies from countries sharing a land border with India, including China, from participating in government procurement without prior approval.

TNIE has reviewed the copy of the order.

Following the 2020 border clashes, Chinese bidders were required to obtain political and security clearances before bidding for public contracts.

In May 2026, the finance ministry notified new rules allowing overseas companies with Chinese shareholding of up to 10% to invest in India under the automatic route.

With the exemption, these companies will be eligible to bid for public sector contracts involving critical power equipment, particularly high-voltage transformers and gas-insulated switchgear (GIS), where domestic manufacturing capacity remains limited.

Exemption sought in Jan

The Ministry of Power had sought the exemption in January to prevent delays in key transmission and power projects. The move is expected to increase competition in procurement across the power, transmission and distribution, renewable energy, industrial automation, and infrastructure sectors over the next two years

Ram temple donation theft: RSS seeks action against guilty

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR AND NAMITA BAJPAI @ New Delhi/Lucknow

The Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) on Friday broke its silence over the sensational donation theft at the Ram temple in Ayodhya, with general secretary Dattatreya Hosabale observing that the condemnable act had deeply hurt the sentiments of the entire society and demanding stringent punishment for the guilty.

Emphasising the need to restore public confidence, Hosabale said the prevailing confusion and uncertainty must come to an end. "In this regard, we expect the temple management and the UP government-appointed special investigation team (SIT) to take all necessary initiatives."

He appealed to the Hindu community to exercise patience and restraint, urging them not to allow anti-national forces to exploit the incident.

Hosabale said the Shri Ram Janmabhoomi Teerth Kshetra Trust should treat the theft as an exceptionally serious matter and take steps to rectify all shortcomings in the temple management. This is crucial to ensure that the faith and reverence of crores of Ram devotees remains unbroken, he said.

"We all are extremely pained and angered," Hosabale said in a video message, recalling that the temple was a symbol of reverence and devotion owing to the sacrifices of generations of Ram devotees.

The controversy has already claimed its biggest casualty with Trust general secretary Champat Rai putting in his papers. Hosabale's statement came days before the RSS' annual Akhil Bharatiya Prant Pracharak Baithak in Belagavi, Karnataka.

Seven held in old B'luru-Mys road firing case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

The Mandya police arrested seven persons in connection with the firing on a goods vehicle moving on the old Bengaluru-Mysuru highway in the early hours of Thursday. The incident sparked concerns over public safety and the use of firearms on a busy highway.

One of the arrested, Rohan Gowda (23) -- a resident of HV Colony in Mandya, is the son of a well-known advocate from the region. The police seized a car belonging to him that was allegedly used in the offence, along with an air pistol and ammunition. Authorities said the weapon has been sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory (FSL) to determine whether it is an air gun or a firearm.

The other arrested are Shashank (25) of Marigowda Layout, Afan (25) of Dwarakanagar, Mohammed Umar (25) of Kuvempunagar, Nithin (27) of Vidyanagar, Mohammed Abubakar (25) of Gandhinagar and Sachin (26) of Vidyanagar, all from Mandya.

Mandya Superintendent of Police VJ Shobharani told the media that the accused had attended Afan's birthday party at a resort and were returning in the car when they allegedly committed the offence under the influence of alcohol.

The police said the incident occurred around 4.50 am near a petrol bunk close to Amaravathi Hotel on the outskirts of Mandya. The accused allegedly opened fire at the goods vehicle transporting medicines from Bengaluru to Mysuru after its driver, Shankar of Gokulam in Mysuru, did not give way to their car. CONTINUED ON: P7

Confusion over SIR intensifies, citizens fear losing voting, guarantee benefits

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

CONFUSION has only intensified as the house-to-house visit by Booth Level Officers (BLOs) under the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) completed five days with both citizens and BLOs being flummoxed.

The common problem citizens cited is that the forms are in Kannada and they are unable to decipher it. People said they are unaware of what to fill in the columns where details from the previous special summary revision of the electoral roll conducted in 2002 are sought. The last SIR was done in 2002 and Assembly and parliamentary elections were conducted in 2004.

What is worrying is that BLOs and Booth Level Agents (BLAs) have not been able to assist citizens as they too lack clarity. "I asked the BLO what needed to be filled. He told me to leave the column blank as he could not clarify. Submitting incomplete forms makes the entire exercise futile," said Sumalatha, a resident of Tavarekere. A BLO said, "Citizens should refer to online videos posted by the Election Commission to understand how to fill forms. Collect the forms and submit them later as there is a month's time."

Another BLO said, "We too are helpless. The supervising Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) officials are not picking up phones to clarify people's doubts."

When Bhuvanna, a resident of RR Nagar, questioned the BLOs and BLAs what would happen if columns are left blank, they told him, "Fill details as per the last last Assembly elections, as BLOs have that data. I do not want to make mistakes in the form. There is no additional copy available in case of mistakes. If there are too many cancellations, there are chances forms might get rejected."' ## GBA poll dates may be announced in 10 days

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka State Election Commission is likely to announce the dates for elections to all the five corporations under the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) in the next ten days. According to the Supreme Court deadline, the polls have to be conducted before August 31.

The elections to the earlier Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike were held in 2015 and since September 2020, Bengaluru does not have a local government. State Election Commission sources said preparations for the polls have started. "We can fix the poll dates only after consulting a representative from the GBA and it will be done soon. Once we hold the discussion, we will get clarity and dates will be announced," the official said.

After the final GBA electoral rolls were published in April this year, Congress had raised objection to the process in a few wards in three corporations. Now, a separate door-to-door survey is being done by State Election Commission at these wards. "This may take time, but we have to abide the court's direction and conduct polls before August," sources said. P2

After a decade, three men still fight for govt jobs that they won in court

KARTHIK K K @ Mysuru

FOR nearly a decade, three persons have been caught in an exhausting legal and administrative battle, despite successfully clearing a government recruitment process. Their lives have become a story of endless visits to government offices, courtrooms and lawyers, all in pursuit of what they say should have been theirs years ago, a government job.

EXPRESS CLUSIVE

Harish Kumar HP of Ramanagara district, Vishwanath of Koppal district and Hampanna Kolakar of Vijayapura district were among those selected for the work inspector post under the Urban Development Department. But the government declined to issue appointment letters to them even after publishing the final list, citing administrative reasons linked to the cadre.

Now, the legal battle has stretched for almost 10 years. The three candidates first challenged the government's decision before the Karnataka High Court. Even after favourable observations at different stages, the appointments never materialised, forcing them to continue knocking on court's doors.

Their struggle culminated in a significant judgment by a Division Bench of the Karnataka High Court on March 23, 2026. Hearing the Writ Appeal No 814 of 2025, the Bench directed the state government to appoint the petitioners as work inspectors within two months.

The court also took note of the government's earlier assurance regarding the abolition of the work inspector cadre. It observed that even if the cadre is abolished through amendments, the petitioners should not be deprived of employment and must instead be accommodated in an equivalent cadre.

The bench held that the government should complete the appointment process rather than prolong the dispute. P7

GET ALONG, WORK FOR CITY GROWTH: KBG TO BABUS

GIS-based integrated dashboard on the cards to ensure better coordination among civic agencies

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BENGALURU Development Minister Krishna Byre Gowda, who has repeatedly pulled up officials, on Friday at the second meeting of the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) Executive Committee, which brought together the heads of all major civic and infrastructure agencies to institutionalise coordinated planning and execution of urban development projects, said that it was not his nature to abandon a responsibility, referring to his 'Bengaluru Development portfolio' without doing justice to it.

Stating that without coordinated efforts among the various departments, he cannot bring any changes to Bengaluru and said: "It is not my nature to get off the horse that easily without doing justice to the responsibilities given".

He said either he has to fall from the horse or the officials have to get along with him to improve Bengaluru. "We will keep trying until we can make whatever degree of improvement", he said, adding that Bengalureans want better coordination.

Minister Krishna Byre Gowda tells civic agencies to work as a team | EXPRESS

The Executive Committee, constituted under the GBA Act, has been created to address one of Bengaluru's most persistent governance challenges, the lack of coordination among multiple civic agencies responsible for roads, water supply, electricity, public transport, metro, suburban rail and urban infrastructure.

The minister said Bengaluru has, for decades, suffered because departments have worked independently, often resulting in duplication of work, repeated road cutting, avoidable expenditure of public funds and inconvenience to citizens.

"People have been asking for better coordination among civic agencies for over three decades. The Executive Committee has been established to provide an institutional and permanent solution to this long-standing problem," Byre Gowda said.

The minister directed all participating departments to significantly improve coordination and jointly plan infrastructure works so that projects are executed efficiently without repeated disruption to public life.

He announced that coordination meetings, mandated once every two months under the GBA Act, would be convened more frequently whenever necessary to ensure continuous monitoring and quicker decision-making.

The minister said that many newly laid roads are often dug up within months because departments function without adequate information sharing, and it was decided to develop a unified GIS-based digital platform that will integrate information relating to roads, road history, utilities, streetlights and ongoing infrastructure works across departments. All civic agencies have been instructed to upload their proposed works and action plans onto the common platform before execution.

The platform will also enable citizens to report civic issues such as potholes and monitor the progress of corrective action, significantly improving transparency, accountability and coordination across departments.

He said the integrated platform is expected to minimise such instances through advance planning and inter-departmental coordination.

Officials were instructed to share project timelines well in advance so that utility works, road construction and other civic projects can be synchronised, reducing repeated excavation, inconvenience to citizens and wasteful expenditure.

3-month notice given, 141 km of footpaths cleared: Min

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AFTER allegations that the vendors have been evicted without giving any notice, Bengaluru Development Minister Krishna Byre Gowda said that they have been given three months' notice.

He shared a media byte of Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on March 20, when he held the Bengaluru Development portfolio, announcing that arterial and subarterial roads will be cleared of all encroachments to ensure pedestrian movement. Byre Gowda said that the government had given a three-month notice.

"This decision was made in an all-party meeting on March 20. The suggestion was made by several MLAs. The matter was discussed and was unanimously supported by all MLAs and MPs of all parties. All present raised their hands to support the resolution. Government has consulted elected representatives and officials," the minister said.

Byre Gowda reviewed the progress of the ongoing Safe Footpath Campaign, stating that approximately 141 kilometres of encroached footpaths had already been cleared during the first two days of the drive.

He reiterated that the campaign presently covers only around 20 per cent of Bengaluru's arterial and sub-arterial road network, where pedestrian movement is the highest, while commercial activity and street vending can continue on the remaining roads in accordance with the law.

Emphasising that pedestrian safety remains the government's foremost priority, he noted that hundreds of pedestrians lose their lives in road accidents every year after being forced onto carriageways because footpaths are blocked or unusable.

"The objective is not to affect livelihoods but to ensure that every citizen can walk safely. Public safety and public rights must remain paramount," he said.

The minister added that the initiative is being implemented in accordance with the directions of the Supreme Court and also reflects the unanimous view expressed by elected representatives across political parties that Bengaluru's busiest roads must provide safe and obstruction-free pedestrian movement.

BIG-TICKET DECISION

BMLTA rules notified, major infra projects exempt from scrutiny

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BIG-ticket infrastructure projects such as the proposed tunnel road and elevated corridors will not require the approval of the Bengaluru Metropolitan Land Transport Authority (BMLTA), a statutory body created to integrate and oversee all urban mobility and public transport projects in Bengaluru, as the Congress-led state government has notified the Bengaluru Metropolitan Land Transport Authority (BMLTA) Rules 2026.

Despite strong opposition from mobility experts and citizen groups to the 'savings' clause in the draft BMLTA rules released in January, which they warned could allow all major infrastructure projects initiated between 2022 and 2025 to bypass BMLTA scrutiny, the government issued the final notification dated July 2, without removing the provision.

"Before the establishment of the Bengaluru Metropolitan Land Transport Authority and after the date of commencement of the Act, all the previous decisions, plans and operations and pending proceedings on the date of commencement of these rules, shall be deemed to have been construed under the Act," the savings clause in the final notification states.

All the projects that were planned before BMLTA became operational, shall be deemed to have been construed as per the final notification, limiting the authority's role in reviewing big ticket infra projects.

BJP BACKTRACKING ON STREET VENDOR REFORMS, SAYS CM

Bengaluru: Chief Minister DK Shivakumar slammed the opposition BJP, accusing the party of adopting "double standard" by opposing the government's street vendor reforms in Bengaluru. He claimed that in a meeting that he had called, BJP MLAs had unanimously decided to introduce new regulations for street vendors Shivakumar said the state government is committed to ensuring that Bengaluru's footpaths are kept obstacle-free for pedestrians while at the same time safeguarding the livelihood of street vendors. However, he alleged that the BJP was attempting to drive political mileage by opposing the very decisions it had earlier endorsed. Referring to the pre-budget meeting for the 2026-27 financial year of Bengaluru's five city corporations, Shivakumar, who was then Bengaluru development minister, said MLAs from the BJP and JDS had attended the meeting and unanimously agreed to introduce regulations for street vendors. According to him, the decisions included earmarking vending zones for registered vendors without obstructing pavements.

FOOTPATH DRIVE CONTINUES, STREET VENDORS FUME

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FIVE city corporations continued their drive to clear footpath encroachment in the city on Friday as part of the 10-day 'Safe Footpath Campaign'.

The drive covered major roads in Whitefield, Dasarahalli, Hessarghatta, Hebbal, Ganganagar, MS Palya, Kacharakanahalli, Kammanahalli, Vidyaranyapura, Jayanagar, JP Nagar, Uttarahalli, Pantarapalya, Laggere, Vijaynagar, Outer Ring Road and other areas.

In Vijayanagar, many street vendors protested against the drive. They argued with civic officials that the drive was illegal and they have every right to do business on footpaths.

The officials told them that they were clearing encroachments on footpaths for the safety of pedestrians.

A footpath being cleared at Pantarapalya

Backing the vendors, Bengaluru-based lawyer and rights activist Vinay Srinivasa alleged that the eviction drive is not legal. Alternative arrangements should have been made for vendors before their eviction, he said.

Minister Krishna Byre Gowda had stated that 300 pedestrians died on Bengaluru roads due to street vending. But most of them died while crossing roads, as per data from traffic police, Srinivasa said.

He challenged the minister to produce at least one FIR that stated a pedestrian lost his life because of street vending.

Permanent structures on footpaths built by many shopkeepers were demolished. Showrooms and garages that built ramps on footpaths for vehicles were also demolished. Civic workers removed metal roofs and structures made of steel and other materials from footpaths.

In Jayanagar, a temporary structure built to house construction workers was demolished. Many pushcarts, goods autos and petty shops on footpaths were taken away by civic workers.

04th July : Handle With Care The Pisces moon squares off with Uranus and then Mars on this day of American independence, issuing a reminder to put safety first, not just in the handling of fireworks, but in the handling of an idea of a country, what it has meant, how it has changed and what it still stands for today. The invitation is to participate in the ongoing experiment. Let freedom ring.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Freedom is not only the ability to go where you please. It is the ability to become who you are. Trust your own judgment. Celebrate the choices that make your life feel more fully your own.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20)
Bravery means continuing even when the outcome isn't guaranteed. On some level, there are no guarantees on this plane of existence, so it takes a certain amount of courage just to live an ordinary day. But you take it to another level, doing the extraordinary with a brave heart.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 21)
Fireworks begin as stored energy waiting for release. So do many dreams. Something you've been imagining is ready to move from possibility into action. The first actions will have to do with preparing your workspace with the intent of "safety first."

CANCER (June 22 - July 22)
You embody the pursuit of happiness. Freedom is not only about escaping limitations; it's also about moving toward what delights you. There's a playful quality to this day you spend in the pursuit of experiences that put a smile on your face.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
Consider what deserves your allegiance and what does not. Decide which values to lead with. What needs to happen for these values to be represented in your daily life? In a sense, every habit is a vote for your values.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
For you, freedom is not the absence of responsibility but being able to choose your commitments instead of being assigned them. Because you know who you are, it's not hard to distinguish the path that best suits you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 23)
You believe groups are strongest when many different voices find a way to share the same table. You have a gift for bringing people together without requiring them to be alike. Your curiosity and respect create a harmonious atmosphere wherever you go.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 21)
Like a bald eagle riding a thermal high above the landscape, you gain perspective by rising above the immediate situation. Details fit into a larger context. From this altitude, you see where the path on the ground leads.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
Independence is not isolation. You can be independent with people around you or while working as part of a team because independence is a spirit inside you. The point is not to stand apart. The point is to stand firmly in your own choices.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
Fireworks last only moments, but the planning behind them takes time. You understand this principle well. The visible result is never the whole story. Your preparations will culminate into just the "wow factor" you were going for.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
Here you go again, expanding the definition of what is possible. Because why preserve old systems when you can improve them? And you're so good at attracting others willing to experiment and create. Together you'll flesh out an unconventional idea.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar 20)
There is magic in simple togetherness. Some of the happiest moments happen around a picnic table or at a backyard gathering. It's all about just plain fun. That's how freedom rings for you, and the sound carries on and on.

Shobha demands ECI probe into SIR 'scam'

Alleges Cong conducting camp-based verification instead of house visits by BLOs to include ineligible voters

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

UNION Minister and Bengaluru North MP Shobha Karandlaje has urged the Chief Election Commissioner (CEC) to investigate the alleged irregularities in the conduct of SIR in the state. In a letter to the Election Commission of India (ECI), she demanded that the ECI enforce strict adherence to the prescribed SIR exercise and deploy independent observers to oversee it in the state.

She said instead of the mandatory door-to-door verification by Booth Level Officers (BLOs), the exercise is being conducted by gathering people at community halls and other places, defeating the very purpose of SIR.

A day after Union Minister HD Kumaraswamy released videos of the alleged irregularities in the SIR exercise in Ramanagara, BJP leaders, including Karandlaje and Leader of Opposition in the Legislative Assembly R Ashoka, released photographs and videos of the exercise done at Yeshwantpur, Chamarajpet, Malleswaram, Govindarajanagar and other assembly constituencies in Bengaluru.

According to them, such irregularities are happening across the state.

Karandlaje alleged that the ruling Congress is diluting SIR by conducting camp-based verification instead of visits to houses to include ineligible voters.

Stating that the ECI is the sole constitutional authority to revise electoral rolls, she alleged that the Karnataka State Election Commission's (KSEC) separate exercise will create confusion, duplication and inconsistencies in the voters' list.

Citing a recent Supreme Court judgment upholding the ECI's authority over SIR, she sought immediate directions to halt the parallel exercise in the state and ensure that only the ECI finalised electoral rolls are used for local body elections.

She also urged the ECI to immediately halt the parallel SIR being conducted by the KSEC in 27 wards of GBA. When a statewide SIR exercise is on, a parallel revision by the KSEC will create confusion among voters. The ruling Congress is conducting the exercise just to please party leader Rahul Gandhi, she alleged.

Karandlaje claimed that the Congress government is attempting to enrol Bangladeshi immigrants and other ineligible people in the voters' list. Birth and residence certificates are being issued illegally to help to include ineligible people in the voters' list.

HDK demands fresh SIR

Union Minister HD Kumaraswamy has urged the ECI to conduct a fresh SIR in the state in view of the alleged irregularities in the exercise. "I will meet the ECI officials in New Delhi soon and urge them to take action against officials, including Ramanagara (Bengaluru South) deputy commissioner," he said.

Forms being filled in mosques: Pralhad Joshi

Union Minister Pralhad Joshi has alleged that enumeration forms are being filled in mosques at Shiggaon, Savanur, Hubli and Dharwad. In a press release issued on Friday, he said this is a matter of serious concern and sought a thorough probe into the alleged irregularities in the exercise.

He alleged that such irregularities are happening with the support of the ruling Congress. Referring to the exercise at booth No 16 in Ward 63 of Hubballi-Dharwad East Assembly constituency, Joshi claimed that the local BLO, Mary Ramachandra Harapanahalli, filled enumeration forms sitting in one place instead of visiting houses.

DKS meets Siddu, cabinet expansion may be in July

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

EVEN as the Karnataka cabinet has decided to defer the 15-day monsoon session of the legislature to August owing to the ongoing SIR of electoral rolls, the cabinet will likely be expanded anytime between July 10 and 14, informed sources told The New Indian Express.

Leader of the Opposition in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi is expected to return to India on July 8 after which Chief Minister Shivakumar will visit the former in New Delhi to take a final call on the expansion, sources added.

Shivakumar, along with his wife Usha and younger brother and former MP DK Suresh, visited former CM Siddaramaiah at the latter's residence 'Cauvery' in Bengaluru on Friday. It was a courtesy call by Shivakumar to express his gratitude to Siddaramaiah for completing one month in office after the smooth transition of power, and to keep the latter in good humour. Shivakumar also briefly discussed the cabinet expansion, sources added.

Meanwhile, ministerial aspirants— mostly from the Siddaramaiah camp— MLAs Ashok Pattan, AS Ponnanna and KN Rajanna, and MLC MR Seetharam, also rushed to 'Cauvery' and held deliberations.

Both Shivakumar and Siddaramaiah are likely to visit Delhi. Some of the aspirants are also lobbying through KPCC president BK Hariprasad, who is leaving for Delhi on Saturday, sources added.

Interestingly, even as the Congress high command has asked Shivakumar not to entertain lobbying by aspirants, several leaders, including Laxmi Hebbalkar, CS Appaji Nadagouda, Srinivas Mane, Gaviappa, Hampanagouda Badarli, among others, reportedly met AICC General Secretary (Organisation) KC Venugopal in New Delhi recently.

Payment quota jibe from Vijayendra

BJP state chief BY Vijayendra made a serious allegation that one should make a payment to get a cabinet berth in the Congress government. "There is one management quota and the other payment quota (to get cabinet berths), which I had said earlier as well. The CM knows the reality that if the cabinet is expanded, the foundation of this government will be shaken. That is why SIR has made an excuse to defer the session," he said.

SIR: Residents, BLOs in quandary

SHABANA, a resident of Yeshwanthpur, was scared that she would lose out on the state's guarantee scheme benefits if details are not accurate. "My family and the entire neighbourhood have been gathering details and documents to submit with the forms. We do not want any trouble, we do not want our names to be deleted," she said.

Abhilash Kumar GK, BLO, Shivajinagar, said everyone's problems are different and all efforts are being made to ensure there are no errors in the forms. The help of BLAs and volunteers is also being taken.

In many areas, college students, senior citizens and daily contract workers are deployed as assistant BLAs, instead of those registered. Some carry Congress and BJP identity tags, while others do not. Some are also seen threatening citizens seeking clarifications. Forms are being distributed in community halls, common areas of apartment complexes, weddings, religious institutions and common public spaces.

"My son and daughter-in-law got their SIR forms, but my husband and I did not. We asked the BLO who came, he said somebody else will come. But he did not know who the other BLO was. He said that since our polling booths changed during last Assembly collections, he is not carrying our forms," said a worried Bindu J, a resident of OMBR Layout. Sumathi, a resident of Banaswadi, said the residential complex where they are staying did not exist in 2002. They have shifted multiple times and they do not know where to collect the SIR forms, she said.

People also want to know what to do if there are spelling mistakes in the old voter ID cards and newly corrected ones. They are worried about spelling mistakes made by BLOs while filing forms on their behalf in Kannada.

BLOs too are equally worried, while some were even teary-eyed. "I do not know what to do. I do not want to do this. Only a brief and hurried training was given before being deployed us on SIR duty. We sat in a large hall and a man spoke from a distance. He was not clearly audible. I myself am not clear how to fill my own form. How can I help others," asked a BLO from Banaswadi.

Another BLO from Malleswaram was, however, in a hurry to distribute the forms and rush out. When questioned, she said, "I am on SIR duty from 8 am to 12.30 pm. I am a government school teacher and I have to get back before lunch period ends to sign attendance, otherwise I will lose my day's salary."

GBA Chief Commissioner Maheshwar Rao said that forms are printed by election officials in the state's language. On leaving the columns blank and names not found in 2002 SIR, he admitted that there are problems and said if people have doubts in filling the forms, they should visit the voter facilitation centres. There is no harm if any column is left blank, he clarified.

An official from the Election Commission said that in 2002, Epic cards were introduced on a pilot basis and many would not have those details. But it does not matter. BLOs will enter data, assist in filling forms and digitise them in English to avoid errors. During the mapping exercise, BLOs acquired details of electors as per 2002 rolls and they will update the information when they collect the forms. On change of address, the official explained that forms of electors will be available in locations where the last vote was cast. In such cases, it is best for citizens to fill forms online with e-signatures. To address spelling changes, the software has been upgraded to accept minor spelling errors, prefix and suffixing of initials, the official said.

WORKING ON WEEKENDS

Election officials said directions are to conduct the exercise for 30 days, including government holidays and Sundays. In some cases, BLOs are working from 6am till 10pm to complete the targets.

MY TAKE

When failure of common sense becomes the biggest killer

NIRAD MUDUR
Resident Editor, Karnataka
niradgmudur@newindianexpress.com

A FIXED pattern emerges when man-made tragedies claim lives: the family members of the deceased are inconsolable and in tears, shock and anger are expressed by friends and relatives, politicians go vocally hyper targeting the ruling dispensation and the authorities for conditions leading to the tragedy, and the government announces compensation to the families of the dead and the injured. In most cases, these are passed off as "accidents", for which compensation becomes justified. And then, the tragic incident recedes in public memory, only to be refreshed when another one occurs. It's almost a template.

But what is missing – or is compromised – is common sense, the absence of which led to the tragedy, or the application of which could have prevented it altogether in the first place.

Common sense is an innate ability to perceive and judge situations based on experiences that are widely shared among people. It does not require special scientific training to develop common sense, but rather is based on simply observing and experiencing the world around us and knowing what to do and what not to do – in this case, with safety in mind. For instance, when water is boiling and bubbling, we know we should not put our hand into it; if a car is speeding, we know we should not come in its way; we don't allow kids to run around on the roads unattended. We anticipate the adverse consequences and stay out of its way to live unharmed.

Take the categories of tragedies that have occurred. Deaths in high-speed vehicle crashes; pedestrians dying while arbitrarily crossing the road, or walking on it due to the absence of footpaths, and getting run over by speeding vehicles; landslide deaths; deaths due to an electrocution when people come in contact with live electric wires carelessly allowed to hang within touching distance; Chinese 'manja' slitting the throats of unsuspecting two-wheeler riders; deaths due to tree falls; deaths by falling into open manholes during flooding; deaths due to asphyxiation while cleaning the drain... the list is long! But they all commonly display a lack of common sense either on the part of the victims or the authorities in ensuring safety.

The latest is about seven workers getting crushed to death on Thursday morning when a huge boulder weighing several tonnes got detached and collapsed on them at a quarry in Huluvenahalli village in Tavarekere on Bengaluru's outskirts. Heavy stones being loaded into a tractor in an upper quarry slipped and dislodged the large boulder which collapsed on 16 workers working in the lower quarry. Five sustained severe injuries while four escaped unhurt.

The question is: why would quarry works be allowed to proceed at two different levels simultaneously, knowing that if anything went wrong at the upper quarry, as it did, it would harm the workers below? That too, in a quarry where rock blasting and drilling are common, and which can result in cracks developing in the stone hillocks? Was there no logic or common sense in anticipating it? Did no one expect that the tragedy could occur? And yet it did, with a conspicuous lack of common sense by the workers, the supervisors and the owners – the latter two themselves said to be absent at the site when the tragedy struck.

It was only after the tragedy that some social activists have alleged that they had sent alerts to the authorities a month ago that the quarries in the region were operating without the mandatory no-objection certificates. Why was it not pursued by the authorities? It is only now – after seven have died – that it is being pointed out that the quarry workers are treated like 'slaves' and that they are made to work without protective gear in dangerous conditions. It is always in retrospect that all these allegations come up, never proactively to ensure the safety of the people to prevent deaths or maiming.

We pride ourselves on being part of a welfare state. But, common sense is very essential in a welfare state, in which right to life and safety is a prime right of the citizens, be they executives in corporate firms, daily labourers working in quarries or mines, or any individual in whatever profession. Common sense is a crucial factor in ensuring safety and welfare of the citizens without exceptions.

Most importantly, common sense helps build positive anticipatory life skills. In fact, it is an essential life skill. When developing life skills is being given so much importance, common sense has to be a part of it.

Extreme natural catastrophes apart, tragedies do not simply occur. In most of them, the human factor is involved. And what is most critical is the failure of common sense – a failure that turns into a killer that snuffs out lives, because absence of common sense removes our anticipatory guards and makes us completely vulnerable...even to death!

Concerns over closure of Kannada schools in Goa

BANSY KALAPPA @ Benglauru

THE reported closure of Kannada-medium schools in Goa has triggered growing concerns in Karnataka, with educationists, politicians and Kannada activists urging the Shivakumar government to intervene, warning that the issue extends beyond education and touches upon the linguistic and cultural rights of thousands of Kannadigas living across the border.

Public Works Minister Satish Jarkiholi, who hails from Belagavi district, told The New Indian Express that Kannada is the mother tongue of lakhs of Kannadigas who have been residing in Goa and preference should be given to the medium of instruction in Kannada.

"Kannada medium schools should be protected. I will speak to Chief Minister DK Shivakumar about it. There are about 4-5 lakh Kannadigas mostly from neighbouring Uttar Kannada and Belagavi residing in Goa," Satish added.

Former Primary Education Minister and MLC Adagur H Vishwanath, who had initiated the opening of Kannada-medium schools in Goa and parts of southern Maharashtra during his tenure, said the institutions represented a vital link between Kannada-speaking families and their mother tongue.

"These schools impart education in Kannada and must be protected," Vishwanath said.

Former Primary Education Minister and MLA S Suresh Kumar also called for a sensitive approach to the issue, saying linguistic identity in border regions required careful handling rather than administrative rigidity.

"Schools in border areas need sensitive handling because families living there have deep emotional attachments to their mother tongue. Every State Government should respect these sentiments. The Goa government, too, must deal with this issue with the sensitivity it deserves and protect these schools," he said.

The renewed debate follows a memorandum submitted by Sri Shantalinga Swamiji, head of the Kannada Sahitya and Cultural Forum, urging Shivakumar to take up the matter with the Goa government. The memorandum alleges that the Goa government, citing the National Education Policy, has already shut down four Kannada-medium schools, while 17 others are functioning without Kannada teachers.

It also expresses concern over reported remarks by Goa Chief Minister Pramod Sawant that schools must adapt to the new education policy, arguing that such an approach has created anxiety among Kannada-speaking communities residing in Goa's border regions.

Gzb man held for sending bomb threat mail to ISRO

ENS @ Bengaluru

CITY police have arrested a 36-year-old man from Sanyog Nagar in Ghaziabad, Uttar Pradesh, in connection with a hoax bomb threat email sent to the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) headquarters. Meanwhile, the space agency received another hoax bomb threat email on Friday.

ISRO had received the first bomb threat email on Thursday morning. During questioning, police found that the accused, Nishant Tyagi, was undergoing treatment for mental illness. While the investigation into Thursday's bomb threat was underway, ISRO received another bomb threat email in Tamil on Friday. After a thorough search of the premises, the threat was confirmed to be a hoax. Police are now verifying whether the second email was also sent by Tyagi or by another individual.

Tyagi had been arrested by the Delhi police on Thursday for allegedly sending hoax bomb threat emails claiming explosives had been planted at agencies, including NIA, DRDO, Nuclear Power Corporation of India Limited the Ministry of Civil Aviation (MoCA), and even on a flight.

NHRC take suo motu cognisance of toddler abuse

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) has taken suo motu cognisance of media reports alleging that toddlers were subjected to inhuman treatment by caregivers at a daycare centre operating inside the Capgemini campus in Brookefield, Bengaluru. The Commission has issued notices to the Karnataka Chief Secretary and the Director General of Police, directing them to submit a detailed report on the incident within two weeks.

According to the NHRC, the alleged abuse came to light after a Child Helpline official received videos purportedly showing caregivers ill-treating toddlers whose parents, employed at the IT campus, had left them at the crib during working hours.

Meanwhile, HAL police have arrested a woman caregiver employed at the daycare centre for allegedly abusing toddlers. Following the incident, Capgemini shut down the facility and said it is cooperating with the authorities.

The accused has been identified as Vijayalakshmi (50), a native of Bangarapet in Kolar district. Police said an FIR has been registered against five caregivers for allegedly abusing children aged between two and three years. While Vijayalakshmi was arrested on Thursday, police are probing the role of the four other women named in the FIR and are verifying videos and other evidence.

She was produced before a court on Friday, which remanded her to judicial custody. During interrogation, Vijayalakshmi allegedly told investigators that the toddlers' constant crying and disruptive behaviour prompted her to act in such a manner, police said.

3 arrested for quarry collapse; hunt on for main accused

BENGALURU: A day after seven workers were killed in a boulder collapse at a quarry in Huluvenahalli village on the outskirts of Bengaluru, the Tavarekere police on Friday arrested three people in connection with the case and launched a hunt for the main absconding accused. Police clarified that although four persons have been named in the FIR, only three have been arrested, contrary to reports claiming that all four had been taken into custody. The arrested have been identified as Panduranga, owner of Sai Ram Crusher and a resident of Malleswaram, who was operating the Basaveshwar Stone Quarry on a sub-lease; N Lokesh, a supervisor at Basaveshwar Stone Quarry and a resident of Tavarekere; and Raju, a supervisor at Kaveri Stones Crusher and a resident of Tavarekere. After registering an FIR against four people, including the owners of the adjoining quarries where the collapse occurred at around 7.30 am on Thursday, the probe revealed the Basaveshwar Stone Quarry had been sub-leased to Panduranga. Based on these findings, Panduranga and the two supervisors were arrested.

Drunk guard assaulted by supervisor dies in sleep

BENGALURU: A 32-year-old security guard, who was allegedly assaulted by his supervisor for coming to work drunk, died a few hours later in his sleep in Suryanagar police limits on Wednesday night. The victim, Bijay Bhat of Nepal, worked at an apartment complex near Anekal. After assaulting Bhat, the accused sent him home. Bhat reportedly died in sleep at home. Based on the CCTV footage from the apartment complex, the police detained the supervisor, Appu. The police are awaiting the postmortem report to ascertain the reasons for Bhat's death. Bhat lived with his wife in a rented house at Iggalur. Appu is alleged to have assaulted him badly. Suryanagar police have registered a case of murder based on a complaint by Bhat's wife.

HC tells state not to coerce aggregators

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Friday directed the state government not to take coercive steps against petitioners -- Internet and Mobile Association of India, Eternal, Zepto, Swiggy, Urban Company and Valmo Transportation, who have challenged the constitutional validity of the Karnataka Platform-Based Gig Workers (Social Security and Welfare) Act, 2025 and the Rules 2025 enacted in the state.

But the court directed the petitioners to deposit the welfare fee of the last quarter demanded by the state for gig workers before it within three weeks. The court orally expressed surprise as to why the petitioners are opposing paying 50 paise as welfare fee for each delivery by the rider of a two-wheeler; 75 paise for three-wheeler delivery and Re 1 for four-wheeler delivery, while they charge 40% more for products. Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the interim order after hearing the arguments of the petitioners' counsel and also the state and the centre and adjourned the hearing to August 14. The petitioners stated that Parliament has enacted the Code on Social Security, 2020 (COSS) to consolidate labour welfare legislation and establish a uniform national framework governing social security for all categories of workers, including gig and platform workers. COSS provides for identification of gig workers, formulation of welfare schemes, aggregator contributions and the regulatory framework for implementation, they stated.

Despite this, the state government enacted the Act, creating substantially similar welfare structures, imposing additional financial liabilities on aggregators and establishing parallel regulatory mechanisms. The state enactment conflicts with the COSS, resulting in operational inconsistencies and attracting the doctrine of repugnancy under Article 254 of the Constitution, the petitioners alleged.

Senior counsel Dhyan Chinnappa and Nandakumar argued on behalf of the petitioners that state's legislation is trenching upon the occupied field of Centre. They submitted that the provisions of the state's Act are already in effect in COSS. Advocate General Shashikiran Shetty contended that there is no conflict between the Government of India's COSS and the state's law. The Act came into force on September 11, 2025 and the petitioners participated in the deliberations on fixing the welfare fee. After participating in it, opposing it is unfair on their part, he added.

Charred body of 28-year-old found near Sarjapur, murder suspected

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A 28-year-old man's charred body was found in an isolated area near Bikkanahalli Main Road within the Sarjapur police station limits on Thursday evening. The deceased has been identified as Vamsi Krishna, a native of Tenali near Guntur in Andhra Pradesh. He was staying at a PG accommodation in Electronics City. He had been working at a private firm but had recently quit his job and was looking for new employment.

Police said that around 6.30 pm, a hotel owner on Bikkanahalli Main Road noticed thick smoke. On reaching the spot, he found a man and his motorcycle engulfed in flames and immediately alerted the police. By the time officers arrived, the victim was found dead with severe burn injuries. The investigation revealed that Krishna had left his PG accommodation at around 3.15 pm to pick up a friend arriving from their hometown. However, when the friend reached the city around 4.40 pm, Krishna did not turn up. Repeated attempts to contact him failed as his mobile phone was switched off.

Police suspect the case to be one of murder. They believe the victim and his motorcycle were set ablaze by unidentified persons. Investigators are analysing CCTV footage to identify the suspects and trace the victim's movements to establish sequence of events leading to the crime.

No duty, no rights: HC denies dad's claim for visitation

BENGALURU: When the husband is not ready to take up the responsibility of the child financially and emotionally, he can't interfere in the life of the child for visitation again. When he avoids duty, he can't get rights, the Karnataka High Court said, in a family dispute in which both husband and wife settled the matter before mediation by dissolving their marriage and the father voluntarily gave up his rights for child visitation with no permission to again commence litigation after one year. Justice P Sree Sudha passed the order while allowing the petition filed by a 29-year-old woman residing in the city challenging the order dated January 30, 2026, passed by a family court permitting her ex-husband to visit his children, after their marriage was dissolved by way of decree and he marrying another woman.

ADB APPROVES ₹2,000 CR LOAN TO STRENGTHEN PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Asian Development Bank (ADB) has approved a $182.89 million loan (around Rs 2,000 crore) to support Karnataka in strengthening its public education system, with the programme expected to benefit more than one million students.

The Strengthening Karnataka Public Schools Programme aims to establish 500 integrated Karnataka Public School (KPS) clusters that will provide seamless education from pre-primary to secondary levels. The initiative will focus on improving school infrastructure, strengthening teacher competencies, upgrading curriculum and assessment systems, enhancing school governance, and promoting science, technology, engineering, arts and mathematics (STEAM) education.

The programme will also introduce industry-aligned skill modules and integrate social inclusion, gender equality and life skills into the curriculum to better prepare students for higher education and future employment.

According to ADB, Karnataka has one of the country's youngest populations, with nearly 70% of its residents in the working-age group, but only 48.3% complete secondary education, while nearly 30% of young people lack the skills required for higher education or employment. The programme is intended to address these gaps and support the state's ambition of building a future-ready workforce.

The project will be implemented through ADB's results-based lending model and is aligned with the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020 and the Karnataka government's ongoing education reforms.

ADB's financing will also be complemented by a $10 million grant and a $25 million guarantee from the International Finance Facility for Education (IFFEd).

Welcoming the ADB assistance, former School Education Minister Madhu Bangarappa said the funding was more than financial support and reflected the international community's confidence in the state's education reforms.

Providing caste category optional for Gruha Jyothi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

FOLLOWING questions on collecting beneficiary category (caste) details, Bescom officials clarified that providing this information is optional.

If a beneficiary does not wish to share his/her caste details, field staff have been instructed to select the 'Refused to provide information' option available in the mobile application. The officials said regular meter readings will not be done for July as Bescom meter readers have been deployed for door-to-door verification of Gruha Jyothi scheme beneficiaries from July 1.

The officials said that consumers will receive average bills for July, which will be calculated based on their electricity usage over the last three months. However, this average billing will not apply to consumers under the High Tension (HT) and Low Tension (LT) categories. Also, consumers with a load of 40 HP and above, solar rooftop (SRT-PV) consumers and temporary electricity connections will continue to receive actual bills in July.

The officials said that July's average bills will be sent to consumers only through SMS and email. Regular meter readings and billing based on actual consumption will commence from August. Any difference in the units during this average billing period will be adjusted in the upcoming bills once actual meter readings resume, the official said.

The BESCOM has opened a dedicated helpline at corporate office to address queries related to data collection and verification under the Gruha Jyothi Scheme. Helpline numbers: 9480816111, 9480816112, 9480816113, and 9480816114. The helpline operates daily from 6am to 10pm.

After 10 years, court rules in trio's favour

FOR the three men, however, the legal victory has come after years of uncertainty.

"During the prolonged litigation, we have crossed the upper age limits for many other government recruitments, effectively shutting the door on alternative public employment opportunities." said one of the candidates.

Family responsibilities, financial pressures and repeated travel to Bengaluru for court hearings have added to their ordeal. While the High Court has now issued clear directions, the two-month deadline has passed without appointment letters. Officials said there is a technical issue, even as the three petitioners hope that the order will finally translate into appointments. The candidates recently gave a representation to new Urban Development Minister Dr Yathindra Siddaramaiah.

After nearly 10 years of legal battle, they say they are no longer fighting for a government job but for justice, dignity and the years that cannot be returned.

Madras HC denies bail, DMK MLA Anitha arrested

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Thoothukudi/Chennai

LESS than an hour after the Madras High Court denied anticipatory bail to former minister and DMK South district secretary Anitha R Radhakrishnan in a defamation case over alleged derogatory remarks against Chief Minister C Joseph Vijay, the Thoothukudi police arrested him at Authoor on Friday. Later in the evening, as he was being taken by the police to the Thoothukudi government medical college hospital for health checkup, the Tiruchendur MLA claimed that he was being "pressured and threatened" to resign as MLA and join the ruling TVK. He claimed that he was offered a significant amount of money to quit DMK and switch loyalty to TVK, but he remained firm on not yielding. "I will always remain in the DMK," Radhakrishnan told reporters.

Sources said Radhakrishnan was inspecting records at the Authoor town panchayat office when a police team apprehended him and escorted him in his vehicle to the office of the Superintendent of Police. Condemning the arrest, DMK cadres led by Corporation Mayor Jegan Periyasamy staged a protest outside the SP's office. As many as 50 DMK cadres were arrested at Tiruchendur following the agitation.

Cases under Sections 352 and 353(2) of BNS was registered against Radhakrishnan at Authoor police station on June 23 for allegedly making defamatory remarks against the CM during a public meeting at Authoor on June 20, based on a complaint lodged by TVK Authoor Urban Secretary S Selvam. While BNS Section 352 is bailable, Section 353(2) for promoting enmity and hatred is non-bailable.

Radhakrishnan was questioned at the SP office by Additional Superintendent of Police (ADSP) Arumugam for five hours, and his statements were recorded, sources said.

Earlier on Friday, rejecting his anticipatory bail plea, the Madras High Court said, "Whoever may be, you have to respect the CM". Justice GK Ilanthiraiyan added that people have elected him (Vijay) as the CM and he has to be respected. The petitioner, Radhakrishnan, is not a layman but an MLA, the judge pointed out.

Meanwhile, Law Minister R Nirmal Kumar dismissed claims of political vendetta and said no one could be arrested without evidence. "Anitha Radhakrishnan remark against the CM and his family is unacceptable and defamatory," the minister said.

TN Guv's 'river review meet' sparks row

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Madurai/Chennai

A day after Tamil Nadu Governor Rajendra Vishwanath Arlekar's review meeting with top government officials in Madurai and his statement on restoration of Vaigai river drew strong criticism from political parties, Minister for Energy and Law CTR Nirmal Kumar on Friday said the governor has no authority to review state government departments or interfere in the functioning of an elected government.

Addressing a press meet at the Madurai Collectorate, Nirmal Kumar made it clear that only the elected government and its representatives have the power to review schemes. "The current government, which is elected by the people, will not permit such actions. Any unnecessary intervention by the governor in state administration or inspections will be met with strong condemnation," he warned.

On the desilting of Vaigai river, the minister said the TVK government had initiated the process immediately after assuming office and has already sought environmental clearance from the union government. Works will begin after approval is received, he said.

Minister for Social Justice Vanni Arasu, in a post on X, accused Arlekar of "interfering in the affairs" of the elected government and selectively remaining silent on issues affecting Tamil Nadu's rights, including Mekedatu dam dispute.

Dr G keen to emerge as Dalit face of the govt

ENS @ Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister Dr G Parameshwara might have missed out on the CM post but is keen to emerge as the Dalit face of the Congress government.

With Dalit leader and former minister Dr HC Mahadevappa taking part in a Dalit protest rally held at Freedom Park, the DCM on Friday promised Dalit activists to convene a meeting at Vidhana Soudha next week to discuss their demands, including filling backlog vacancies in government.

Attending the 'Dalit Janagraha Samavesha' organised by Karnataka Dalit Sangharsh Samiti (Ambedkarism), the DCM said he would invite Chief Minister D K Shivakumar to the meeting apart from officials and legislators.

The meeting is likely to discuss 19 demands concerning land, housing, reservation in employment, special component scheme and implementation of single window policy for the grant of industrial lands.

The delegation from Kodagu meets CM DK Shivakumar in Vidhana Soudha on Friday

Kodagu team calls on DKS, seeks larger role for Ponnanna

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN a politically significant show of support, a delegation of decorated military veterans, former Olympians and other eminent personalities from Kodagu urged the Congress leadership to accord a larger role to first-time MLA AS Ponnanna.

The delegation met CM DK Shivakumar at Vidhana Soudha on Friday and later submitted a representation addressed to him and former CM Siddaramaiah arguing that Kodagu needs to be represented in the state cabinet.

The delegation, led by Ponnanna, who represents Virajpet in the Assembly, included retired Brigadier Brij Chengappa Cheeyanna, retired Air Marshal BU Chengappa, retired Lieutenant Colonel PS Ganapathy, retired Major General Arjun Muthanna, retired Major General Bachamanda Kariappa, retired Brigadier MA Devaiah, retired Colonel CP Muthanna, former India hockey captains MP Ganesh and MM Somaya, and Padma Shri awardee B Subramani.

They argued that Ponnanna, being well acquainted with the district's developmental needs and local concerns, would be well placed to address these issues if given a larger role.

Cops tracking whether gun was legal, motive

THE police said the occupants of the car also abused the driver before firing at the vehicle.

The case was registered based on a complaint filed by Shankar. Investigators are trying to establish where the weapon was purchased and whether it was acquired legally. They are also trying to find out the motive behind the incident. The incident triggered public criticism and raised questions over the circumstances leading to the shooting. Members of the Karunadu Sevakara Sanghatane demanded a transparent, high-level investigation, questioning why the accused were on the highway around 4 am and whether they had threatened other motorists before the incident.

The organisation's leader, Naganna Gowda, alleged that the son of an influential person from the city was involved in the case and questioned the delay in registering the FIR, claiming there was an attempt to suppress the case.

SIMPLER FILING, LOWER COMPLIANCE COST NEEDED IN GST'S SECOND DECADE

AS the goods and services tax turns 10, it is becoming evident that reforms have broadened the tax base, increased compliance and raised the revenue bar. With the number of registered taxpayers shooting up from 66.5 lakh in July 2017 to 1.6 crore now, the average monthly revenue has risen from ₹89,700 crore to ₹1.85 lakh crore. Likewise, the annual haul jumped from ₹7.19 lakh crore in 2017-18 to ₹22.25 lakh crore in 2025-26. The data points reflect the increasing formalisation of the economy and improved tax compliance. Further, they suggest that monthly GST revenue is settling into a consistently higher trajectory from ₹1 lakh crore a few years ago to almost ₹2 lakh crore now. The consistency in collections not only reflects domestic economic resilience but also reasons against states' concerns about revenue loss.

GST has undergone countless tweaks over the past nine years. But none was as significant as the launch of the so-called GST 2.0 last September that included a broad range of rate rationalisations. The move led to expansion in transaction values as well as household savings, thereby increasing consumption. This begs the question on why it took nine long years for the government to move from a four-tier structure to the current two slabs of 5 percent and 18 percent if higher revenue realisation was expected. Such a move would have eased the pressure on individuals during and after the pandemic. It's puzzling to even imagine that critical items like health insurance had to wait its turn for the rate to go down. The hope it that, like in finance—where the first billion takes longer to crack than the next few ones—GST's next phase of reforms would not take forever.

While refunds have drastically improved, unlocking liquidity for cash-strapped small businesses, there is ample scope to make them even faster. It should be a continuous effort. Similarly, further simplification of return filing, faster dispute resolution, broadening the base through the gradual inclusion of excluded sectors need attention. Taxpayers continue to be burdened with input tax credit issues and small businesses often face excessive pressure for compliance. The GST authorities must ensure that officials do not unduly exercise their sweeping search-and-seizure powers or increase the compliance cost for smaller enterprises, which are the lifeblood of the economy.

KERALA LIQUOR POLICY: A CHANCE FOR CHANGE

ALCOHOL is not only addictive; it can also be politically intoxicating. Political leaders in Kerala were recently caught in a heady brawl after the new Congress-led government proposed tinkering with liquor taxes. In his budget, Chief Minister V D Satheesan, who is also the finance minister, proposed a tax slab for low-alcohol beverages, which would enable their sale within the state. The CPI(M)-led opposition was not amused, nor were some leaders of the ruling coalition and the influential church, who say the proposal would encourage drinking. Despite immense pressure to roll back, particularly brought by some senior colleagues in Satheesan's own party, the Finance Bill has been passed with the proposal. But its implementation is now subject to approval by the ruling alliance.

The controversy underlines what has historically plagued Kerala's liquor policy. The alternating UDF and LDF governments, caught between revenue dependency on liquor sales and political compulsion to reduce alcohol consumption, have frequently toyed with rules of the liquor trade, often with detrimental consequences. Any move to ease norms became an instant controversy, with the effect that these policies neither helped curb abuse nor enabled a healthy drinking culture. Fewer outlets, restrictions on bars, more dry days and higher taxes have, in a way, proved counterproductive as a section of drinkers have turned to high-alcohol drinks, spurious liquor and even drugs. The state's restrictive liquor rule is said to be a major reason for rapidly growing drug abuse.

Experts believe promoting low-alcohol drinks could encourage moderate drinking, reduce drug dependency and ease financial burden on families. While those opposing the policy must rethink, the LDF's objection is hypocritical. It was the previous government that sought to allow the sale of low-alcohol beverages. It introduced a new category, classifying those with an alcohol strength of 0.5-20 percent by volume, excluding beer and wine, as low-alcoholic beverages. The next step was to prescribe a tax rate under the Kerala General Sales Tax Act, which did not happen. Technically, the new government is only seeking to complete that task.

Outdated rules need to change so that they reflect the realities of our times. The government must be allowed to do all it can do legally to enhance revenue, elevate living standards, ensure progress and facilitate modernisation. The aspirations of contemporary society must not be stifled by political agendas or religious constraints.

QUICK TAKE

AGAINST AN ANNUAL PERIL

WHEN rescuers need to be rescued, we should sit up and take notice. Dramatic scenes unfolded recently near Dambuk in Arunachal Pradesh when a raft carrying rescuers and stranded individuals who had been picked up overturned in the swollen Sisiri river. Five people who were swept downstream were later found clinging on for dear life. Such scenes are not new in Arunachal and Assam. Rima Das's 2017 feature, Village Rockstars, which won the National Award for best film, showed the emotional toll annual floods take on the people living along the Brahmaputra. This year, the government estimates nearly 50,000 people have already been affected by monsoon fury. Projects to stem riverbank erosion and improve connectivity need to be speeded up to guard against this annual menace.

It is important to reiterate the lessons of Emergency for newer generations so that they remain ever alert to overt and covert narrowing of the democratic horizon

A REMEMBRANCE FOR VIGILANCE AND RESISTANCE

SUDHEENDRA KULKARNI

Gandhian peace activist and aide to former Prime Minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee

SOURAV ROY

HALF a century has passed since the end of the Emergency, an episode in independent India's history that Gen Z has little knowledge of. Even parents from that generation seem to have forgotten it. Those with lived experiences of it are now in their Seventies and Eighties. Why, then, should we remember it?

Well, an event remembered by a nation or a community is not determined by how old or recent it is. On June 25, the day marking the 51st anniversary of the imposition of Emergency rule by Indira Gandhi's Congress government, a clip went viral on social media. In it, Iranian President Masoud Pezeshkian joined mourners, all clad in black, at a Muharram ceremony. They were not mourning the deaths of those who perished in the recent war on Iran by the US and Israel. Rather, it was the annual Ashura commemoration, when all Shias mourn the killing, more than 1,300 years ago, of Imam Hussein ibn Ali, the grandson of Prophet Muhammad. Such remembrance is not a ritual. It is an antidote to protect what one regards as precious and sacred.

India should remember the Emergency for three reasons.

Democracy is precious and sacred for us. It is the main pillar of our Constitution, and the defining identity of our Republic. Hence, we should remember the Emergency of 1975-77 because it was the darkest period in the history of Indian democracy. Almost all opposition leaders were imprisoned, including Morarji Desai, Atal Bihari Vajpayee, Lal Krishna Advani, George Fernandes, Chandrashekhar, A K Gopalan, and, above all, Jayaprakash Narayan, who did not belong to any political party but was the Gandhian 'conscience keeper' of the Republic.

Along with the top leaders, tens of thousands of anti-Congress political activists were similarly punished, most spending the entire 19 months of Emergency rule in prison. Parliament became the handmaiden of the ruling party. Many anti-democratic provisions were introduced into the Constitution by the Congress party's brute majority in the House.

General elections, due in 1976, were postponed. Press freedom came under the severest censorship, the kind not witnessed even during British rule. Independent judiciary, the pride of India and the guarantor of people's inalienable democratic rights, was muzzled. Congress president Dev Kant Barooah infamously said, "Indira is India, and India is Indira."

India should remember the Emergency for another reason. Beneath the calm surface, underground resistance was building. The eerie silence itself was making threatening sounds that those in government could hear, and what they heard made them nervous. Indira Gandhi understood that the continuation of the Emergency was unsustainable, and she lifted it on March 21, 1977.

In the parliamentary elections that followed, Indian voters taught the Congress—also, future dictators—a sobering lesson. Not only was the party unseated from power, but even Indira Gandhi and her son Sanjay, one of the main architects of the assault on democracy, could not retain their seats.

But there is also a third, and most important, reason why we should remember the Emergency. No evil ever becomes a thing of the past completely. It has a way of being resurrected—sometimes by the very forces that fought against it. History bears witness to the fact that leaders and cadres of the Bharatiya Jana Sangh, then led by Vajpayee and Advani, played a key role in opposing Indira Gandhi's authoritarianism.

They even enthusiastically supported JP's call for all non-communist pro-democracy parties to unite under the banner of the Janata Party, which won a thumping majority in the 1977 Lok Sabha elections. How and why the Janata Party experiment failed, and the circumstances that led to the founding of the Bharatiya Janata Party, the new avatar of the Jana Sangh, are beyond the scope of this article.

What is relevant and cautionary is that the same party is now weakening India's democratic institutions and ethos. The integrity and independence of all constitutional bodies, including the Election Commission and the judiciary, have come into question.

Splits within and defections from opposition parties to manufacture post-poll majorities have been normalised. Corruption must be fought, but why misuse the coercive power of the investigative agencies only against political opponents and turn a blind eye to corruption within the ruling dispensation?

Without overt press censorship, the government is trying to silence the media and make it fall in line. Advani, who became information and broadcasting minister in Morarji Desai's Janata Party government, criticised the pliant media during the Emergency, saying, "You were asked only to bend, but you crawled." His words have become part of the global encyclopaedia on press freedom.

Of course, today's BJP leaders are clever enough to know that they cannot curb democracy in exactly the same way as Indira Gandhi did in 1975. Hence, something insidious is happening, a new danger absent during the Emergency. Secularism, another foundational pillar of the Indian Republic, is being attacked, and this attack is being used to cover up—even legitimise—the attack on democracy. This has been achieved by maligning secularism as an anti-Hindu concept.

For the ruling party and its ideological parivar, the foremost priority is to establish Hindutva as the dominant ideology governing every aspect of the nation's life and to transform the nation itself into a 'Hindu rashtra'. Hence, they believe that everything—democracy, constitutional morality and even all dharmic guidelines on governance, which are embedded in the core principles of Hinduism—can be sacrificed to perpetuate power. This has become an unstated governance philosophy.

Since India's undeniable reality at present is that its democracy is in danger, remembrance of the Emergency becomes an act of vigilance and resistance. After all, "eternal vigilance is the price" democracy-loving people must pay to protect their liberties and rights.

ACTING EAST WITH STRATEGIC VISION

GURJIT SINGH

Former Ambassador to Indonesia and ASEAN

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi's forthcoming visit to Indonesia will occur at a particularly favourable moment in bilateral relations. India and Indonesia, the two largest democracies in the Indo-Pacific, have spent the last decade transforming a historically cordial relationship into a comprehensive strategic partnership.

What distinguishes the relationship today is the extent to which commitments made during Modi's 2018 visit to Jakarta and President Prabowo Subianto's January 2025 visit to India have been translated into practical cooperation. The 8th India-Indonesia Joint Commission Meeting, held in New Delhi on June 7, demonstrated that both countries are now focused on implementation.

The modern phase of the relationship began with Modi's 2018 visit, when the ties were elevated to a comprehensive strategic partnership. The vision articulated then was fundamentally maritime. Cooperation on security, defence, connectivity, the blue economy and Indo-Pacific governance became the pillars of the relationship.

Eight years later, many of those objectives have matured. Naval exercises have become more regular, defence exchanges have expanded and coordination on maritime domain awareness has significantly improved. The strategic logic underpinning the partnership has strengthened as both countries seek to preserve a stable, rules-based Indo-Pacific without becoming part of rigid alliance structures.

The symbolism of President Subianto's State visit last year as chief guest on Republic Day was important—it signalled India's desire to prioritise Southeast Asia despite the distractions of great-power competition. The two sides emphasised defence-industrial cooperation, critical minerals, digital technologies, health, food security and supply-chain resilience. The leaders also highlighted the need to strengthen ASEAN's centrality and maintain an inclusive Indo-Pacific.

This June's meeting showed tangible progress in implementing these priorities. In the review by foreign ministers S Jaishankar and Sugiono, particularly noteworthy was the emphasis on critical minerals, digital technologies, pharmaceuticals, fintech and shipping. These sectors are directly linked to the economic security agenda being pursued by both governments.

Critical minerals represent perhaps the most promising new frontier. Indonesia possesses some of the world's largest nickel reserves and is emerging as a major electric vehicle battery hub. India, meanwhile, is seeking reliable access to critical mineral supply chains to support its energy transition and manufacturing ambitions. The discussions indicate that both sides recognise the complementarities.

While defence cooperation has not yet reached the depth of India's partnerships with countries such as Singapore, Vietnam or the Phillipines, the trajectory is positive. Indonesia increasingly views India as a stabilising maritime partner, while India values Indonesia's geographic position near critical sea lanes. Enhanced naval engagement, coordinated patrols, officer exchanges and defence-industrial cooperation could become defining features of the next phase. If Indonesia optimises its interest in obtaining Brahmos missiles, it would enhance the ties.

AFP

India's bilateral relation with Indonesia has grown from maritime cooperation to include defence, healthcare and food security. The PM's upcoming visit presents a chance to deepen the strategic partnership. Critical minerals, pharma and fintech could be among the new pillars of engagement

Economically, however, the partnership still underperforms relative to its potential. Bilateral trade falls short of what should be expected between two G20 economies with a combined population over 1.7 billion. Investment flows also remain modest. Hence, the June meeting focused on expanding cooperation in trade, investment and strategic industries. Fintech, digital payments, cybersecurity and artificial intelligence could emerge as major pillars of cooperation over the coming decade.

Another underappreciated strength of the relationship lies in its civilisational ties. Indonesia's cultural landscape retains deep influences from Indian civilisation, reflected in language, art and religious traditions. Yet tourism, educational exchanges and cultural cooperation have not matched this historical affinity. Greater connectivity between universities, think tanks and businesses could help create a broader constituency.

The forthcoming Modi visit, therefore, presents an opportunity to move the relationship from steady growth to genuine strategic acceleration. Several deliverables could help achieve this objective.

First, the two countries should launch a dedicated critical minerals partnership. Second, maritime cooperation could be upgraded through enhanced information-sharing and expanded naval exercises in the eastern Indian Ocean. Third, a bilateral framework on digital public infrastructure and fintech cooperation would align with both countries' economic priorities. Fourth, cooperation in pharmaceuticals and healthcare could strengthen regional health security. Finally, greater institutionalisation of leader-level and ministerial dialogues would ensure sustained implementation of agreed initiatives.

The broader geopolitical context also favours closer ties. Both India and Indonesia seek strategic autonomy, support a multipolar Asia and favour inclusive regional institutions. Their convergence on these issues creates a durable foundation that extends beyond individual governments.

The challenge for the forthcoming Modi visit is to deepen implementation. If concrete advances can be secured in critical minerals, maritime security, digital connectivity and defence, the visit could mark the beginning of a more ambitious phase in one of the Indo-Pacific's most consequential relationships.

₹52K cr cleared for defence buys

1st DAC decisions after new military leadership takes charge lean towards countering drones

JAVARIA RANA @ New Delhi

THE Defence Acquisition Council (DAC) on Friday cleared capital acquisition proposals worth around ₹52,000 crore, with counter-drone systems, layered air defence, anti-tank weapons and persistent surveillance platforms emerging as the biggest priorities in the armed forces' latest modernisation push.

Chaired by defence minister Rajnath Singh, the DAC granted the "acceptance of necessity" for the projects. The proposals will now go through tendering, technical evaluation and cost negotiations, with the high-value ones also needing the Cabinet Committee on Security (CCS) nod, before contracts are eventually inked.

The DAC meeting was also the first after Gen Raja Subramani took over as Chief of Defence Staff, Gen Dhiraj Seth as Army chief and Adm Krishna Swaminathan as Navy chief.

The latest approvals also point to the way Operation Sindoor has influenced the military's acquisition priorities. The hostilities with Pakistan, in which drones and loitering munitions slugged it out with air defence networks on both sides, has forced the shift away from big-ticket conventional platforms towards counter-UAV systems, layered air defence, better tank survivability and round-the-clock intelligence, surveillance and reconnaissance (ISR).

The Army cornered the biggest chunk of approvals. Topping its list is the indigenous 'Akash-Tarang', an anti-UAV electronic warfare (EW) system built to detect, track and jam hostile drones.

The DAC also cleared 2,300 indigenous man-portable anti-tank guided missiles (MPATGMs), along with 100 launchers and five simulators, for around ₹2,600 crore, sources said. Developed by DRDO for production by state-run Bharat Dynamics, the third-generation, fire-and-forget missile packs an imaging infrared seeker, tandem warhead and top-attack capability to take out modern tanks and will progressively replace the vintage Milan and Konkurs ATGMs.

Additional Medium Range Surface-to-Air Missile (MRSAM) systems and shoulder-fired Verba VSHORADS, the fourth-generation Russian MANPADS, to be manufactured in India by Adani Defence under transfer of technology from Rosoboronexport, were also cleared. The package also includes Active Protection Systems (APS) and a jet-based kamikaze drone system for longer-range precision strikes.

For the Navy, the DAC cleared the Multi-Influence Ground Mine (MIGM), a Naval Shipborne Unmanned Aerial System (NSUAS) and a land-based testing facility for electric propulsion.

For the IAF, the headline approval is the Fixed-Wing Based High Altitude Pseudo Satellite (FW-HAPS), a solar-powered platform built to loiter in the stratosphere for weeks on end to deliver persistent ISR. The DAC cleared other IAF proposals also, without specifying.

PM's 3-nation Indo-Pacific tour to focus on trade ties

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi's visit to Indonesia, Australia and New Zealand from July 8 to 11 is expected to advance India's strategic and economic interests across the Indo-Pacific, with cooperation on critical minerals, resilient supply chains, trade and defence taking centre stage. The visit will also address emerging mobility issues, including delays in Australian student visas for Indian applicants.

The tour comes as New Delhi deepens engagement with key Indo-Pacific partners amid shifting geopolitical alignments, intensifying competition over critical mineral resources and efforts by countries to diversify supply chains away from dependence on a few markets. Indonesia, Australia and New Zealand together represent three distinct but interconnected pillars of India's Indo-Pacific strategy—maritime security, resource security and economic integration. The visit is also expected to reinforce India's Act East Policy.

Indonesia will be the first stop on the Prime Minister's tour. It will be Modi's fourth visit to the country and his first bilateral visit since India and Indonesia elevated ties to a Comprehensive Strategic Partnership in 2018. As India's largest trading partner in ASEAN, Indonesia has emerged as an increasingly important economic and strategic partner. Besides supplying coal and palm oil, it possesses some of the world's largest nickel reserves, a critical mineral for electric vehicle batteries and clean energy technologies.

Indonesia's location astride the Malacca Strait, one of the world's busiest sea lanes, also makes maritime cooperation a key pillar of bilateral ties. Briefing reporters, Secretary (East) in the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA), Rudrendra Tandon, said the visit reflects India's growing focus on the eastern maritime region.

"The focus has shifted to the eastern maritime zones of the Indian Ocean and our Act East engagement," he said. From Indonesia, Modi will travel to Melbourne for the third India-Australia Annual Summit with Prime Minister Anthony Albanese. Tandon said, "The conversations will cover emerging areas of our bilateral relations, in particular the critical minerals, the cybersecurity domain, supply chain resilience, emerging technologies, and so on."

Australia has become a vital partner in India's efforts to secure supplies of lithium, cobalt and rare earth minerals required for electric vehicles, renewable energy and semiconductor manufacturing. Responding to a question on visa restrictions, MEA Joint Secretary (Indo-Pacific) Vishwesh Negi said the issue would form part of the discussions.

The final leg of the visit will take Modi to Auckland, marking the first visit by an Indian Prime Minister to New Zealand in nearly 40 years.

New Zealand visit comes after FTA

The visit follows conclusion of a landmark FTA that will eliminate tariffs on 95% of New Zealand's exports, opening new opportunities in agriculture, food processing, dairy technology, education and investment. New Zealand Prime Minister Christopher Luxon described visit "historic".

'Electoral democracy under threat,' says Oppn's letter to CJI on SIR

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

REITERATING its allegations that the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls is "flawed" and accusing the Election Commission of acting in a partisan manner, the Congress on Friday asserted that the electoral democracy in the country is facing its "gravest threat". Congress general secretary K C Venugopal wrote on X that the Supreme Court bears the crucial responsibility of ensuring free and fair elections.

The Congress released a letter sent by Opposition parties to the Supreme Court on June 28, seeking a suspension of the SIR exercise and urging that any such exercise be undertaken at least five years before an Assembly election. The letter, signed by representatives of 24 political parties, along with Independent MP Kapil Sibal, stated that "democracies turn into anarchies when institutional mechanisms fail".

Venugopal's post read, "Electoral democracy in our country faces the gravest of threats from the Modi-Shah regime... Opposition parties along with an independent MP wrote to the Hon'ble Chief Justice of India on the flawed SIR process, the partisan role of the ECI and other election-related issues... We are releasing this letter, in the interest of transparency, and in the hope that the Hon'ble Supreme Court will take the firm steps urgently required to restore the integrity and accountability of and faith in the election process of crores of our people."

In the letter, the opposition bloc stated that the electoral process is being "manipulated" and poll results on multiple instances do not reflect the "will of the people". It read, "The reason for our grave concern is the brazen biased conduct of the ECI, in particular the Chief Election Commissioner. There has been open, unabashed support of the BJP during the course of and in the outcome of electoral processes."

The letter also raised questions about the electronic voting process. "A transparent electoral process, in which every Indian has full confidence, is essential to sustaining public trust in our democracy. We believe this is a matter that warrants wider public discussion, including a serious consideration of restoring ballot papers where appropriate."

MHA calls DGPs' meet on demographic change and illegal infiltration on July 9

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Union Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) will hold a high-level meeting on July 9 to review issues related to demographic change and illegal infiltration with Directors General of Police (DGPs) from all states and Union Territories joining senior ministry officials in a hybrid format, officials said.

According to the officials, the meeting will focus on identifying regions where significant demographic changes have been reported and assessing the factors contributing to such shifts. The deliberations are also expected to cover measures to detect illegal infiltrators, strengthen mechanisms for their deportation, and formulate a coordinated strategy to curb illegal immigration.

They said the objective is to improve coordination between the Centre and states in tackling illegal immigration and its associated security concerns.

The review comes as the Centre has stepped up efforts to scientifically study demographic changes across the country. A high-level committee headed by former Supreme Court judge Justice (Retd) Prakash Prabhakar Navlekar has already been constituted.

As per the sources, the committee has prepared a detailed questionnaire, and the same is being circulated to states and UTs to gather data on population growth trends, changes in demographic composition across districts and regions, instances and impact of illegal immigration, fertility and mortality trends, and the implications of demographic shifts for public services, infrastructure and internal security.

The information collected will help the panel assess the extent and nature of demographic changes and prepare a comprehensive report.

Broad consensus during talks between MHA team & Ladakh leaders in Leh

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

ENDING weeks of uncertainty, the Ministry of Home Affairs and Ladakh leaders in Delhi on Friday released the signed Minutes of Meeting of the May 22 meeting mentioning safeguards under Article 371 for Ladakh and a UT-level elected body.

Meanwhile, the informal talks between MHA officials led by Additional Secretary in the MHA, Prashant Sitaram Lokhande, and leaders of the Leh Apex Body (LAB) and Kargil Democratic Alliance (KDA) and the Ladakh MP were held in Leh on Friday.

During the meeting, both sides endorsed the minutes, and, accordingly, the draft of the meeting was released.

The leaders of LAB and KDA had been demanding release of minutes of the meeting during which both sides had agreed in principle on granting safeguards to Ladakh under Articles 371 (A and J) and a UT-level elected body. Owing to a delay in release of the draft of the meeting, Ladakh observed a complete shutdown on June 23. Both the groups had accused the MHA of backtracking on its promises.

As per the minutes, the leaders from Ladakh proposed that the bureaucracy may be made accountable to the elected government. "It was agreed that in terms of functions and civil servants for the subjects under the purview of the UT-level elected body, the control and supervision will be exercised by the elected executive body."

Pvt jet firms seek changes in crew flying hours

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

PRIVATE jet operators across the country have requested the aviation regulator, the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA), to put in place flying hours for the cockpit crew in line with global standards.

The DGCA recently undertook a review meeting with the operators. The Business Aircraft Operators Association (BAOA), which has 115 private and non-scheduled operators as its members, took part in the meeting. "A review meeting was held with the BAOA in which they requested for separate Flight Duty Time Limitation (FDTL) for their crew who fly their aircraft," a DGCA source told this newspaper.

For private jet crew operators, a maximum of 8 hours of total flying time is permitted per day, as per the DGCA's rules. A minimum of 10 consecutive hours of rest is mandatory within a 24-hour period while a maximum of two consecutive night duties and two night landings per week are permitted.

Extension of Diversion Time Operations (a set of regulations which decide how far passenger aircraft can fly from an alternate aircraft) for flights to 120 minutes from the existing 90 minutes too was discussed, it is learnt. Group Captain R K Bali (retd), Managing Director of BAOA, said, "India's economic boom has ensured that we are among the fastest in the world when it comes to business aviation. We have around 500 such aircraft and the scope is huge in this sector. High Networth Individuals (HNI) in particular are keen on using them. Hence, we have asked DGCA for a rationalisation of FDTL norms and align them with international standards. We are very keen this is being implemented with priority given to adequate safety norms."

Long-range aircraft, which would be deployed by corporate houses, to fly from Delhi or Mumbai to a city abroad will require a different operational schedule for pilots. "Hence, we requested for the rationalisation," he said.

A committee has been constituted by the regulator to examine the proposal mooted by private operators. "We have met with the members of the committee and spelt out our requirements," Bali added.

A top aviation official said there is enormous potential for helicopters and other private aircraft in the country. "Money is not a problem anymore in India which was the case in the past. However, what really ails this sector is the acute shortage of trained pilots. Most of the helicopters in the country are today operated by former or retired personnel from the defence sector. The need to train pilots on the smaller aircraft need to be undertaken on a war footing by the government to take advantage of the enormous potential this sector offers," he said. The country would require up to 3,000 helicopters in future, the official added.

Minimum 10 consecutive hours of rest mandatory

Centre sets deadline after CPWD fails to submit report on sensitive postings

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

THE issue of officials continuing in sensitive posts in the Central Public Works Department (CPWD) for long tenures has once again come under scrutiny. The department is yet to submit an action taken report (ATR) on the matter despite repeated directions from the Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs (MoHUA).

The ministry recently issued a fresh reminder after the CPWD failed to furnish the ATR on the implementation of the rotation policy for officials posted in sensitive positions, asking to file the report by Monday. The delay assumes significance in the wake of a recent Central Vigilance Commission (CVC) audit, which had found poor compliance with the rotation policy. The audit revealed that of the 1,641 sensitive posts identified for mandatory rotation during the current cycle, only 39 officials had been transferred as of March, leaving 1,602 posts yet to be rotated.

In May, the CVC advised the CPWD to review and rotate the posting of officials as per the guidelines on priority basis and sought the report within two weeks. The commission also stated it had issued circulars in the past for effecting rotational transfers of the officials posted on sensitive posts to avoid developing vested interests, causing rise in "unnecessary complaints or allegations". It sent other reminders on June 1 and June 24.

The rotation policy bars officials from holding on sensitive assignments to thwart potential risk of emergence of vested interests, misuse of authority and increased complaints. The CVC has, from time to time, issued circulars directing government departments to regularly rotate officials in some posts to strengthen transparency and reduce the possibility of irregularities.

Earlier, in November, the continuation of officials on sensitive postings raised a few eyebrows during the review held by the CVC. At that time, it was found that at least 325 officials were occupying the sensitive post beyond the tenure period.

Channi camp puts Cong on a week's notice in Punjab

Rift talk gains ground as ex-deputy CM Randhawa meets Amit Shah

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

AHEAD of the 2027 assembly elections, fault lines are out in the open in the Punjab Congress as the former CM Charanjit Singh Channi camp has given one week's time to the party high command to address their concerns over retaining Amarinder Singh Raja Warring as the state party president. Former deputy CM Sukhjinder Singh Randhawa's meeting with Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Friday also sparked speculations about brewing discontent at a time the party is attempting to project unity before the polls.

Over 20 sitting and former Congress MLAs and hundreds of party workers met at Channi's house in Morinda on Friday, seen as resentment against the high command's decisions over the party's organisational appointments. The leaders decided to form a committee that would take up workers' concerns with the ledership. They argued that Channi is one of the strongest mass leaders and that appointing him as the state unit chief would have energised the party cadre.

MLA Tripat Rajinder Singh Bajwa claimed that the leaders want the high command to understand the sentiment in the state. "Several party leaders are unhappy. It has been decided to seek time from the party high command so that the situation in the state can be placed before it. We have no fight with the high command," he said. Former MLA Madan Lal Jalalpur said, "All is not well in the Punjab Congress. We had gathered to discuss future course of action because the workers want Channi to lead as he is the mass leader who can bring the Congress back to power." Separately Chandigarh MP Manish Tewari criticised the party's internal dynamics. "If a person is talented, society usually finds fault with him," he said on X.

Meanwhile, Gurdaspur MP Randhawa clarified on his meeting with Shah in Delhi. He said the meeting was held to discuss security-related issues. Randhawa said he submitted a memorandum to the home minister, demanding action against the spike in gangster-related incidents in Gurdaspur and other border areas, which were discussed at the meeting.

Nabin on 2-day UP visit to firm up poll plank

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

AHEAD of the Uttar Pradesh Assembly elections in 2027, BJP national president Nitin Nabin is scheduled to begin a two-day organisational visit to Uttar Pradesh from July 4 to 5.

During the visit, he will hold a series of organisational meetings with senior party leaders and office-bearers. He will also interact with BJP public representatives and leaders of the NDA. As a part of his visit, the BJP chief will also address the Shakti Kendra Convenor Conference aimed to strengthen the organisation.

In a statement, the BJP on Friday described Nitin Nabin's two-day visit to Uttar Pradesh as significant in view of the upcoming elections in the state next year. This will be the BJP chief's first visit to Uttar Pradesh following the formation of the new state BJP team, which includes several new faces such as Ankur Sharma.

After arriving in Lucknow on Saturday, the BJP chief will proceed directly to the state BJP headquarters, where he will be accorded a grand welcome through a roadshow passing via Alambagh, T N Chaturvedi Chauraha, Charbagh, Deendayal Smritika, Maharana Pratap Chauraha and Burlington Chauraha.

He will also chair an important organisational meeting with state BJP office-bearers.

Didi, Abhishek told to file affidavit in contempt case on '25 Martyrs' Day rally

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

THE Calcutta High Court on Friday directed Trinamool Congress chairperson Mamata Banerjee and her nephew Abhishek Banerjee, national general secretary, to file affidavits in a contempt petition alleging violation of the court's direction on blocking arterial roads during the party's July 21 Martyrs' Day rally in 2025.

The petitioner alleged contempt of the High Court's May 2018 order, which had directed that public meetings or gatherings on thoroughfares must not cause a total blockade of the road in question.

A division bench of Justice Arijit Banerjee and Apurba Sinha Ray directed Mamata and Abhishek to file affidavits within the next four weeks stating their position over the allegation. The court directed the petitioner to file his affidavit in reply to the contention of the Trinamool leaders within the subsequent two weeks. The next hearing on the petition will be held August 17.

In 2018, a bench of the then Chief Justice Jyotirmoy Bhattacharya and Justice Arijit Banerjee, had directed that passage must be left on such roads for the movement of pedestrians and emergency vehicles.

Lawyer Srikanta Dutta, the petitioner, moved the contempt petition before the HC on June 19, claiming that the order was violated during the TMC's July 21 Martyrs' Day rally in 2025, causing blockage of arterial roads in the heart of the city.

This year police denied permission for holding the Martyrs' Day rally in front of Victoria House. The Martyrs' Day is held in protest against death of 13 Youth Congress activists on July 21, 1993 allegedly due to police firing during a 'March to Writers' Buildings' agitation led by Mamata Banerjee, the then YC leader.

Diamond mining preps gain momentum

With the approval of large-diameter drilling at Baloda-Belmundi diamond block in Mahasamund district, the critical phase of exploration is set to begin. It aims to scientifically assess the diamond-bearing kimberlite pipe to prepare a detailed commercial feasibility report. NCL is a joint venture between the central enterprise NMDC Limited (51%) and the Chhattisgarh Mineral Development Corporation (49%). The effective assessment of the diamond deposit will pave the way for commercial diamond mining in the state. A preliminary exploration in Mahasamund yielded five raw diamonds totalling 1.22 carats.

CBI probe into triple murder recommended

The state government recommended a CBI probe into the sensational triple murder case that took place on June 16, when a long-standing feud over illegal sand mining escalated into a horrifying massacre in Katgodi village, under the Sonhat tehsil of Chhattisgarh's Koriya district. In the horrific incident, the sand mafia allegedly killed three members of the same family. A mob of nearly 30 attackers allegedly used a heavy dumper truck to ram an SUV, pinning its doors shut, before dousing the vehicle in petrol and setting it ablaze. Following the brutal killings, the victims' grieving family members had been demanding a CBI investigation.

A model of healing with self-reliance

The Indian Leprosy Relief Association Ashram at Sothi (Katrenagar) in Janjgir-Champa district stands out as a model where leprosy-affected persons are offered not just treatment, but shelter, rehabilitation, skills, and an opportunity to lead a self-reliant life. This is happening at a time when the social stigma attached to leprosy disease and the challenge of ensuring dignified rehabilitation for affected persons are far from over, while many continue to face social exclusion, neglect, and rejection. The institution has grown beyond being a leprosy centre, established in 1962 by social worker and leprosy survivor the late Sadashiv Govind Katre.

Denied extra car, minister returns security cover

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

JHARKHAND Finance Minister Radhakrishna Kishore on Friday returned security personnel assigned to him along with three vehicles from his official convoy, after the state government failed to provide an additional vehicle for his security detail. He is now travelling without security cover.

The Minister attended a programme at the Khel Gaon Stadium in the morning and later proceeded to the Project Bhawan Secretariat without security personnel on Friday.

Notably, the Minister had written to the Director General of Police (DGP) a few days ago seeking an additional vehicle for the movement of his security personnel. However, no action was taken on his request. The Minister, in his letter, stated that security personnel were facing practical difficulties regarding their commute under the existing arrangement.

But the minister did not get any response. On June 29, Kishore once again wrote a letter to the DGP expressing his displeasure. The minister, however, clarified that his decision was not directed at the state government but was to highlight systemic shortcomings.

Jaish network busted, 8 arrested from Gujarat and MP with 'radical' literature

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

THE Gujarat Anti-Terrorism Squad (ATS) has dismantled an alleged network linked to the banned terrorist organisation Jaish-e-Mohammed (JeM), arresting eight suspects from across the state and neighbouring Madhya Pradesh. They were produced from the Kadi court, which granted them 14-day ATS remand.

Spread across Palanpur, Siddhpur, Navsari and Dewas, the operation is being viewed as a major breakthrough in efforts to prevent the revival of terror networks in the state.

The accused have been identified as Ahmed Abdullah Ghaziwala, Ibrahim Mohammad Hussain Ghagha, Mudassir Abdullah Ghaziwala, Zakaria Durrani, Mufti Faujan, Mohammad Amin Shera, Mohammad Abdul Rehman Sawdi, and Bilal Durani Mohammad (MP).

According to the ATS, all eight had allegedly been associated with the banned terror outfit for the past five months.

Addressing a press conference, Gujarat ATS DIG (Operations) Sunil Joshi said, acting on inputs, ATS launched a coordinated investigation using technical surveillance and human intelligence, eventually identifying eight suspects operating from different parts of Gujarat and MP.

"Based on technical surveillance and human intelligence, teams were immediately dispatched to Bhagd, Siddhpur, Navsari and Dewas in MP, leading to their arrest," Joshi said.

"A large amount of incriminating material has been recovered from the mobile phones.

The accused were acting on directions received from Pakistani handlers.

Initially two accused were arrested, following which six more were apprehended," the ATS official stated.

The probe has also brought to light a possible Kashmir connection. According to ATS, an unidentified individual from Kashmir allegedly met the main accused in Vadodara.

Religious place can be taken over for public purpose: HC

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE Allahabad High Court has ruled that the Places of Worship (Special Provisions) Act of 1991 prohibits only the conversion of the religious character of a place of worship from one religious denomination to another, and that it does not bar the state from acquiring such properties for secular and public purposes.

Giving the ruling, a division bench comprising Justices JJ Munir and Arun Kumar dismissed a writ petition seeking to issue directives to halt the ongoing widening of roads and beautification in the Dalmandi area in Varanasi, a project being undertaken as an extension of the Shri Kashi Vishwanath Dham Corridor development.

Passing a 32-page order, the bench said that the Act of 1991 prohibited the conversion of places of worship of one religious denomination to another. "It does not derogate from the state's authority to acquire any place of religious worship for secular and public purposes," said the judges.

Significantly, six petitioners, comprising shopkeepers of the Dalmandi area, had moved the Allahabad HC seeking a writ of mandamus to prevent their dispossession from the area. They also sought protection for six ancient mosques in the area that were proposed for demolition as part of the project.

It does not derogate from the state's authority to acquire any place of religious worship for secular and public purposes —Allahabad High Court

The petitioners argued that the proposed acquisition for the expansion of the project route was arbitrary, illegal, and a violation of their fundamental rights and that it was designed to target a particular community.

On the other hand, the state argued that the 1991 Act did not prohibit the government from acquiring worship land for larger public purposes. It submitted that under the Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act of 2013, the government had the sovereign power to acquire any property. The state also argued that Sections 51 and 91 of the Waqf Act, 1955, also permitted such acquisition, subject to due process.

On the basis of the arguments, the bench observed that the petitioners, being mere tenants and not owners of the properties in question, had limited standing to challenge the acquisition process.

The high court further emphasised that in matters of land acquisition under the 2013 Act, it is primarily the title holder who has locus to object, negotiate a sale or suffer an acquisition.

RAIN HAVOC

2 dead in Tapi, floods cause HP road block

HARPREET BAJWA & DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Chandigarh/Ahmedabad

Administration is on high alert although no dam has reached the danger level

Tejas Parmar, Surat Collector

HEAVY monsoon rains triggered flash floods and landslides at multiple locations in Kinnaur district of Himachal Pradesh on Friday, disrupting road connectivity. Torrents of water and debris blocked the strategic the Hindustan-Tibet Road (NH-5) near Cholling and washed away sections of the Ribba-Kande link road. While several vehicles were damaged, no casualties were reported, officials said.

A JCB machine was immediately deployed at Cholling for restoration work, and the NH-5 was later reopened for vehicular traffic. According to State Emergency Operations Centre (SEOC), 49 roads were closed across state—30 in Kullu, 10 in Chamba, 3 in Sirmmaur, two each in Mandi, Una and Lauahl and Spiti.

Meanwhile, 24 pilgrims stranded near a temple in Chamba have been rescued.

In Gujarat, monsoon has left a trail of destruction, exposing gaps in urban infrastructure and flood preparedness. In Tapi district's Valod village, two labourers died after entering a drain to remove tree branches lodged during heavy water discharge to prevent an embankment breach.

During last 24 hours, rain lashed 172 talukas, with Mangrol in Junagadh recording the Gujarat's highest rainfall of 13 inches. Among the worst-hit regions was Kadi in Mehsana, where nine inches of rain fell within two hours before dawn, flooding more than 25 residential societies. Valsad emerged as another disaster hotspot after receiving over six inches of rain.

Surat district recorded 228 mm of rain. District Collector Tejas Parmar said, "Although no reservoir or dam has reached the danger level and there is no flood-like situation, the administration is on high alert."

DROUGHT PLAN

Centre pushes for low-water kharif crops

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi/Bhopal/Raipur

The state government is continuously monitoring the evolving rainfall situation

Mohan Yadav, MP Chief Minister

WITH below-normal monsoon rainfall raising concerns over possible drought conditions in parts of the country due to the impact of El Nino, the Centre on Friday intensified its preparedness measures. Union Home Minister Amit Shah directed the Ministry of Jal Shakti to monitor all water bodies—both large and small—as well as groundwater levels across the country.

He also called for a shift towards alternative, low-water-consuming crops, such as fodder, millets and pulses to reduce pressure on water resources and safeguard agricultural output. Chairing a high-level review meeting with Union Agriculture Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan and senior officials from key ministries, Shah said the Centre was maintaining continuous surveillance over the monsoon situation and potential drought conditions in vulnerable regions.

Meanwhile, the Madhya Pradesh government has decided to launch a campaign for encouraging farmers to cultivate short-duration, low-water-requirement crops. Chief Minister Mohan Yadav emphasised on the cultivation of millets and pulses. He said, "The state government is continuously monitoring the evolving rainfall situation. All concerned departments should implement their pre-planned action programmes in a coordinated manner and provide every possible technical and administrative support to farmers."

In the neighbouring Chhattisgarh, a slowdown in rainfall seems to have drastically affected agricultural activities. Sowing for major kharif crops, including paddy, has been disrupted. Against the targeted goals, paddy sowing has reached only 12 per cent, while overall kharif sowing stands at a dismal 10.6 per cent.

C'garh advisory for farmers

The state Department of Agriculture has advised farmers to opt for short-to-medium-duration crop varieties to mitigate the impact of weather.

Millions expected to hit streets in Tehran as Khamenei funeral begins

Representatives from around 30 countries to attend dayslong ceremony

TEHRAN

TOP Iranian officials on Friday paid their final respects to the country's slain supreme leader Ali Khamenei at the start of a week of funeral ceremonies, with allies and mourners converging on Tehran where his body is lying in state.

Authorities expect public mourning and grand processions to attract millions before Khamenei's burial next week, four months after he was killed aged 86 at his compound in the opening US-Israeli salvo of the Middle East war. AFP images showed mourners carrying his coffin aloft at the vast Grand Mosalla religious complex in the Iranian capital, with the casket draped in the colours of the Islamic republic that he led for more than three decades.

State TV broadcast footage of Iranian President Masoud Pezeshkian paying his respects at Khamenei's coffin on Friday afternoon, alongside parliament speaker and chief negotiator Mohammad Bagher Ghalibaf. Ahmad Vahidi, head of the Revolutionary Guards, the ideological arm of the military, also made his first appearance since the start of the war in February.

Russian ex-president Dmitry Medvedev and the foreign minister of Afghanistan's Taliban government also paid their respects.

Delegations from Palestinian militant group Hamas and Lebanese militant group Hezbollah joined the mourning, a day before a public ceremony was set to begin.

Representatives from around 30 countries are expected to attend the funeral, with other allies including China and Iran's neighbours in the Caucasus region saying they would be sending representatives.

The city was preparing to take in huge numbers of visitors for the grand display of patriotism and devotion.

Ezzat Shoai, a 61-year-old teacher, told AFP that her neighbourhood had "prepared our houses to welcome those who come from outside the capital". "God willing... we will go together to say goodbye to our dear leader".

WAR WATCH

Ghalibaf had called on Thursday for "all the Iranian people... to write a glorious page in the history of Islamic Iran through your presence". "The nation's call for vengeance must ring in the ears of the whole world," Ghalibaf said in a statement. AFP

Festivities to mark 250th anniversary of US kick off amid heat warnings

WASHINGTON

FESTIVITIES commemorating the 250th anniversary of American independence from Great Britain kicked into higher gear across the United States on Friday as celebrations are balanced with efforts to stay safe as much of the country bakes under extreme heat.

President Donald Trump will travel to South Dakota to deliver a speech and watch fireworks at Mount Rushmore. And in a novel twist, there will be a ball drop in New York City's Times Square at midnight to usher in the July Fourth holiday with much the same revelry that is typically reserved for New Year's Eve.

The holiday is unfolding at a unique time in the US. The anniversary has served as an opportunity for the country to reflect on its history while also reminding it of the political polarisation of the moment.

The sound of fighter jets on military flyovers reverberated across the nation's capital.

The activity culminates in the main event Saturday, when fireworks will erupt in communities across the US, along with backyard cookouts and block parties. Trump will deliver another speech at the National Mall in Washington before what is being billed as a historically massive fireworks show. But for all the celebrations, there are also serious safety considerations as potentially record heat grips much of the Midwest and East Coast. Officials have warned those celebrating the holiday to stay hydrated. Sky-high temperatures lead to cancellations and adjustments to the festivities. AP

US buries time capsule to be opened in 2276

Americans living in 2276 will get a taste of what their ancestors today think best represents the nation thanks to a time capsule to be buried this July 4. The 400 kilo stainless steel cylinder will go into the ground Saturday, as the nation marks its 250th birthday, not far from where the Declaration of Independence was signed in Philadelphia. It is not supposed to be opened for another 250 years, in 2276. Jay Nanninga, a National Institute of Standards and Technology mechanical engineer who designed the time capsule said when the new capsule buried in Philadelphia is opened in 2276, "we want future generations to have a clear window into who we were at 250".

Middle-class to drive 93% of spends by '36: FM

248 mn people moved out of poverty due to Jan Dhan financial inclusion programme | Wealth distribution has gone beyond metro cities, middle-class emerges as growth engine | Digital payments, banking formalised small biz, improved access to institutional finance

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

FINANCE minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Friday said India's middle-class and slightly affluent class will account for 93% of the country's consumption by 2036 due to tax relief and welfare measures implemented by the government that have aided to boost the spending capacity of the population.

During her address at the Rencontres Économiques d'Aix-en-Provence, an economic forum, at Aix-Marseille University, France, she said, "By 2036, on the back of these measures, we believe 93% of all spending in India will come from middle-class or slightly affluent consumers. This middle-class is not concentrated in metropolitan cities."

She added that wealth distribution in India has gone beyond metropolitan cities and middle-class emerging across cities are not just a beneficiary of growth but engine of growth. Citing OECD projections, she said India will bypass China in terms of the size of its middle-class population between 2030 and 2035. She said 31% of India's population belongs to the middle class, which has expanded at an average annual rate of 6.3% since 1995.

Citing the World Bank and the IMF estimates she said 248 million people had moved out of poverty with the Jan Dhan financial inclusion programme bringing millions into the formal banking system. With government-backed credit guarantee schemes, first-time entrepreneurs have been able to start their business without collateral to access concessional loans and credit histories.

INDIA'S MIDDLE-CLASS TO BYPASS CHINA BY '35

Citing OECD projections, Sitharaman said India is likely to bypass China in terms of size of middle-class population between 2030 and 2035. She said 31% of India's population belongs to middle-class, expanding at an average annual rate of 6.3% since 1995.

"So the guarantee is given by government via an agency, which is deposit guarantee and guarantee for loans. Today some of them have graduated from lower level of loan giving which is for small amounts for small businesses to a second level to a third level as their performance has been wise and they have wonderful credit scores today," she added.

She said the spread of digital payments and banking through smartphones and feature phones had formalised small businesses and improved their access to institutional finance.

Sitharaman and French economy minister Roland Lescure on Friday co-chaired the India-France Economic and Financial Dialogue in Aix-en-Provence, discussing cooperation on key minerals, high-speed rail, cross-investments and financial sector linkages and explore holding the next dialogue in 2027.

THE ASEAN ANGLE

THAILAND

EXPORTS EXPECTED TO RISE BY 8-10% IN 2026

Thailand's exports are expected to rise by 8% to 10% this year, a shippers' group said on Friday, raising its forecast from a rise of 2% to 4% made in January. Exports are expected to continue growing in the second half of 2026, although growth may slow from the first half, the Thai National Shippers' Council said in a statement. Shipments will be supported by demand for electronics and AI-related goods, the group said, but it warned that geopolitical tensions and global trade uncertainties could slow growth. In the first five months of 2026, exports, a key driver of Thailand's growth, rose 17% year-on-year. Exports increased 12.9% last year. Last month, the Bank of Thailand (BoT) left its key interest rate unchanged and raised its 2026 economic growth outlook to 2.3%, with exports seen up 14%.

MALAYSIA

HOUSEHOLD DEBT RISES TO $423 BILLION BY MARCH

Malaysia's household debt rose to 1.73 trillion MYR (about 423 billion USD) at the end of March although the debt-to-GDP ratio edged down slightly. Malaysian Prime Minister Datuk Seri Anwar Ibrahim was quoted by local media as saying that household debt stood at 84.4% of gross domestic product (GDP) at the end of the first quarter, down marginally from 84.7% three months earlier. According to the Malaysian government's assessment, debt growth has remained broadly in step with economic expansion and income gains, easing concerns that households may be becoming increasingly overstretched amid uncertainty in the global economy.

PHILIPPINES

ATTAINS 'UPPER MIDDLE INCOME' STATUS: WB

The Philippines has attained upper-middle-income status, the World Bank said on Wednesday, marking a long-sought milestone that underscores the country's economic gains and is expected to shape its development path in the years ahead. The reclassification places the Philippines among economies with gross national income (GNI) per capita of between $4,636 and $14,375 under the World Bank's Atlas method for fiscal year 2027. The shift follows the country's record GNI per capita of $4,850 in 2025, up from $4,470 a year earlier. GNI per capita measures the income earned by a country's residents and businesses, whether at home or abroad.

SINGAPORE

BANKS WITNESS INCREASE IN FRAUD CASES: REPORT

Singapore banks are facing a rise in fraud attempts and financial losses, as nine in 10 executives admit that attempts at their institution are rising. Three-quarters (75%) reported rising fraud losses, higher than the regional average of 67% and the global average of 60%, as per a survey commissioned by BioCatch. Thomas Peacock, director of global fraud intelligence at BioCatch, said Singapore is one of only three of the 12 countries surveyed where most respondents are more concerned about the financial impact of fraud than its reputational damage. More than half of respondents identified social engineering scams as one of the most common forms of fraud affecting banks in Singapore.

SHARE SALE

Adani Ent upsizes QIP to ₹15,000 cr on high demand

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

BILLIONAIRE Gautam Adani-led group's flagship firm Adadni Enterprises has increased the size of its Qualified Institutional Placement (QIP) to ₹15,000 crore from planned ₹10,000 crore after the share sale attracted bids worth ₹38,000 crore, or 3.8 times the original issue size, as per people familiar with the transaction.

Adani Enterprises's offering, launched on Thursday, was subscribed 3.8 times the original base issue size, with demand led primarily by long-only institutional investors, they said. The issue drew strong interest from long-only institutional investors, with participation from global asset managers including Capital Group, Goldman Sachs, BlackRock, Blackstone and Nomura.

Domestic investors included HDFC Mutual Fund, ICICI Prudential Mutual Fund, Kotak Mutual Fund, Aditya Birla Sun Life Mutual Fund, SBI Mutual Fund and Tata Mutual Fund. The book was fully covered within 48 hours of the roadshow, ahead of formal launch, prompting the company to exercise an upsize option, the people said. Several investors sought allocations larger than they ultimately received, reflecting strong institutional demand.

The fundraising comes as investors assess ongoing legal proceedings in the US involving Adani Group Chairman Gautam Adani. Last week, a US federal judge declined to dismiss criminal charges against Adani and asked the Department of Justice to provide additional justification for its decision to seek dismissal of the case. Despite legal backdrop, institutional participation in the QIP remained robust.

7-point action plan to help maximise FTA gains: Goyal

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

COMMERCE and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal on Friday unveiled a seven-point action agenda, including faster implementation of labour and land reforms and improved testing infrastructure for exporters, with a special focus on micro, small and medium enterprises (MSMEs).

He called on states, industry bodies and exporters to work together to tap a larger export market and maximise benefits of India's free trade agreements (FTAs). Addressing industry representatives at the Board of Trade meeting, Goyal said exports should become a "high-priority agenda" across all levels of government and industry. He urged states, Export Promotion Councils and industry associations to institutionalise meetings with exporters to identify and resolve bottlenecks.

Goyal said state governments should amend their labour rules to operationalise the four labour codes and undertake necessary land reforms to effectively implement the Centre's policy initiatives. He urged states to participate in the BHAGYA scheme and expedite implementation of the labour codes by notifying the required state-level rules.

Whatever testing facilities are required, we will fund them 100%—whether in government or semi-government laboratories or even universities

Piyush Goyal, commerce minister

The third and fourth measures focus on MSMEs, aiming to improve product quality and cut compliance costs. Goyal said MSMEs would receive support to access export markets and benefit from testing infrastructure to meet the quality standards of overseas markets.

He said the Centre would finance a substantial portion of the costs incurred by exporters—particularly MSMEs—for obtaining global certifications and complying with sanitary and phytosanitary (SPS), technical barriers to trade and other regulatory requirements.

"Whatever testing facilities are required, we will fund them 100%—whether in government or semi-government laboratories or even universities. It will bring down testing costs significantly," Goyal said.

He added that the India-UK FTA, which comes into force on July 15, would be the first major test of India's export preparedness. Goyal also said industries facing unfair imports should approach the Directorate General of Trade Remedies (DGTR) to seek anti-dumping duties, safeguard measures or other trade remedies.

He urged industry to identify products that can be manufactured competitively in India to reduce import dependence and strengthen supply chain resilience, assuring that the government would support such import substitution efforts.

HZL bets on critical minerals as part of co's ₹50k cr expansion plan

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

HINDUSTAN Zinc Ltd (HZL) is sharpening its focus on critical minerals as part of its long-term diversification strategy, with the company planning to enter rare earth magnet manufacturing while pursuing domestic production of potash and tungsten, its top management said at the company's 60th annual general meeting.

The company eyes capital expenditure of ₹40,000-₹50,000 crore over next a few years. The board has already approved ₹17,000 crore for the first phase in FY26. The Vedanta Group company said it is participating in auctions under the government's Critical Mineral Mission and has secured mineral blocks for rare earth elements in Uttar Pradesh, potash in Rajasthan and tungsten, positioning itself beyond its core zinc and silver businesses.

"We are aggressively participating in all the auctions. Depending upon the block and our assessment of the business potential, we bid selectively and have been fortunate to emerge as winners in several auctions that align with our strategic direction," Chief Executive Officer Arun Misra said while responding to shareholders' queries.

Misra said the company has signed the mining agreement for the rare earth block in Uttar Pradesh and sees the asset as a stepping stone towards manufacturing permanent magnets.

"The monazite block in Uttar Pradesh has the potential to produce neodymium, which is one of the most important rare earth elements required for manufacturing magnets. Hindustan Zinc will also participate in the government's auction for producing magnets in India because that is the future. More electric vehicles mean greater demand for electromagnets, and India currently has no domestic production of the minerals required for them," he said.

LIC allocates record ₹59,726 cr bonus to policyholders in FY26

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

STATE-owned Life Insurance Corporation of India (LIC) allocated a record ₹59,725 crore as bonus to holders of participating life insurance policies in FY26, up about 6% from ₹56,331 crore in the previous financial year, reflecting higher surplus generation and improved operating performance.

The insurer retained its market leadership during FY26, accounting for 56.66% of the industry's first-year premium income and 65.16% of all policies sold in the country, according to its FY26 Annual Report released on Friday.

STRONG GROWTH

1. LIC pays interim bonus of ₹8,356.71 crore in FY26
2. Value of new business rises 42% to ₹14,179 crore
3. Annual premium equivalent surges to ₹66,961 crore

The insurer's FY26 annual report, released on Friday, showed it also paid an interim bonus of ₹8,356.71 crore during the year, sharply higher than ₹3,075.80 crore in FY25. The bonus is credited to eligible holders of participating (with-profit) policies and forms part of the benefits payable on maturity or death. Participating policies allow policyholders to share in the insurer's surplus through bonus payouts.

The higher bonus declaration came in a year when LIC reported a sharp improvement in profitability. Its Value of New Business (VNB) rose 42% to ₹14,179 crore in FY26 from ₹10,011 crore a year earlier, while the VNB margin expanded to 21.2% from 17.6%. Annual Premium Equivalent (APE), a standard measure used to compare life insurance sales, increased to ₹66,961 crore, supported by strong growth in higher-margin products.

The insurer accelerated its shift towards higher-margin non-participating (non-par) products even as traditional participating products such as endowment, money-back and whole-life plans continued to dominate its portfolio. Individual Non-Par APE surged 43.8% to ₹15,214 crore in FY26 from ₹10,581 crore a year earlier, helping improve the profitability of new business.

HCL wins $1.14 bn AI contract from European co

Contract involves AI-driven model

The company said the contract will involve establishing an AI-driven operating model to transform and manage the customer's global digital workplace and enterprise networks. HCL didn't identify the client. As per the company's exchange filing, the initial term of the agreement will run from July 2026 until December 2031.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

HCLTech has won a strategic contract worth $1.14 billion from a Europe-headquartered Fortune Global 50 company to modernise the client's digital workplace and enterprise network operations, the Indian IT services firm said on Friday. The pact is one of the largest deals announced by an Indian IT services company this year.

The company said the contract will involve establishing an AI-driven operating model to transform and manage the customer's global digital workplace and enterprise networks. HCL didn't identify the client.

As per the company's exchange filing, the initial term of the agreement will run from July 2026 until December 2031. The contract includes an option to extend it by a further five years. HCLTech said the deal represents entirely new business for the company.

The announcement lifted HCLTech shares by 6%. Investors welcomed the multi-year contract at a time when demand for large outsourcing deals remains closely watched across the technology sector.

The company didn't disclose financial terms beyond the estimated contract value or provide details of services to be offered in individual markets.

The deal adds a major contract to HCLTech's order book ahead of its quarterly earnings and comes as technology companies continue to invest in AI to improve workplace services and network management. The agreement reflects continued demand for AI-based IT operations among large global businesses, although HCLTech has not disclosed when revenue from the contract will begin to be recognised or provided further implementation details.

In the first quarter, HCLTech expanded its artificial intelligence strategy through a series of partnerships, an acquisition and an investment.

MANAPPURAM CEO RESIGNS, TO CONTINUE TILL DECEMBER 31

SANAL SUDEVAN @ Chennai

THE chief executive officer of leading non-banking financial company (NBFC) Manappuram Finance, Deepak Reddy, has resigned from his position, the company said in a regulatory filing on Friday.

As per the company, Reddy has stepped down to pursue personal and professional interests and will be relieved from his duties on December 31, 2026. During this period, he will remain on garden leave, under which an employee stays away from work during the notice period.

Reddy was appointed CEO on August 1, 2025, after V P Nandakumar transitioned to the role of MD of the Kerala-based NBFC.

In March, Manappuram Finance sold an 18% stake to US-based private investment firm Bain Capital for ₹4,385 crore via a preferential allotment of equity shares and warrants at ₹236 per share. The transaction triggered a mandatory open offer to acquire an additional 26% stake (excluding warrants).

People familiar with the matter said Reddy's exit is part of a broader restructuring of the company's top management, with Manappuram evaluating the consolidation of senior leadership roles to streamline operations and improve efficiency.

Reddy has over 3 decades of experience in the financial services sector. Before joining Manappuram Finance, he spent 17 years at Bajaj Finserv, 9 years at American Express, one-and-a-half years at Standard Chartered Bank and 4 years at JVC Onida.

Spain come alive with 3-0 victory

GREG BEACHAM
@ Inglewood (California)

ALTHOUGH Spain arrived at this year's World Cup as a championship favourite and then went unbeaten through group play, those first three matches weren't overly impressive.

When the knockout rounds finally arrived Thursday, this star-studded team turned on its full talent and served notice that Spain can be just as good as everybody thought — and it's probably getting better.

Mikel Oyarzabal scored two goals and Spain beat Austria 3-0 for its first World Cup victory in a knockout match since winning the title in 2010.

Pedro Porro added a goal in the second half as La Roja put on their most impressive performance of the tournament while demonstrating offensive creativity and defensive rigor throughout its vaunted lineup.

"The great teams step up when it's needed," Spain coach Luis De La Fuente said. "We played a great match. We came close to perfection, but we must keep improving."

While Oyarzabal, full-back Marc Cucurella and winger Lamine Yamal all had sensational moments in attack, Spain also have yet to allow a goal at this year's World Cup. Austria failed to get a shot on target, so Unai Simon didn't have to make a save while keeping his fourth consecutive clean sheet and setting a World Cup record with 519 consecutive shutout minutes dating back to the last tournament in Qatar.

Everybody in a red shirt was happy after a dominant day in the Los Angeles area — but nobody was satisfied, either.

"I'm happy to have helped the team for us to go through another round," Oyarzabal said. "Now just rest and get ready for the next one. It was a complicated match. We knew that it was going to be difficult against a very physical team, but we had a very good day and played a good match."

La Roja will next face Portugal in Dallas on Monday in the Round of 16.

Spain got their marquee offense from Oyarzabal, the Real Sociedad captain who has four goals at this year's World Cup by opening the scoring in the 36th minute and clinching the victory in the 89th. AP

CANUCKS FACE ATLAS LIONS

Canada have impressed with their organisation but they begin this round of 16 clash against Morocco not as favourites. A look...

WILL DAVIES START?

Alphonso Davies made a ton of difference after coming on in the dying embers of the last match against South Africa. However, Richie Laryea appears to be the safer option at left-back for Jesse Marsch. Davies is expected to come on as a substitute unless things go wrong for co-hosts.

A NEW HERO IN SAIBARI

Post the event, Saibari will be a newly minted Bayern attacker. His forward runs and guile up front have already given Morocco a different dimension at the World Cup and he will have to be watched closely.

RAMOS-RONALDO CONUNDRUM

2016 Euro winners are through but coach Martinez has a big call to make moving forward

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN

PORTUGAL fans, imagine. It's the last 16 at the World Cup. You have a young forward who wants a chance to prove himself. So the coach puts him in over Cristiano Ronaldo, one of the most famous sportspersons in history. The result is one of the all-time great hat-tricks in a 6-1 demolition.

Anyway, enough about that Goncalo Ramos treble in a complete display over Switzerland in the pre-quarterfinals of the last World Cup. In a few days' time, when it's time for Portugal to face Spain for a place in the last eight, coach Roberto Martinez has a real dilemma on his hands. Does he stick with Ronaldo, the legendary footballer whose capacity to fight father time is diminishing day by day? Does he play Ramos, whose header against Croatia on Thursday evening proved to be the winner? Or does he opt for a secret third option — start both?

The Ramos, Ronaldo dynamic was once again front and centre on Thursday evening at a packed Toronto Stadium. Both of them scored but you would be hard pressed to say both of those goals were of the same value. While Ronaldo scored from the penalty spot — his first in a knockout match across six World Cups — Ramos' header to win it for them in injury time was the kind of goal his more illustrious compatriot used to score when his body and mind were in sync.

It was also telling that when Ramos came up with the game's clutch moment, Ronaldo was watching from the sidelines, substituted by Martinez. It was a shock when his number was up on the board and it seemed like it wasn't a move pre-decided with the captain. As soon as Ronaldo saw his number, there was a slight hesitation on his face. A denial of sorts before he forced himself off the playing area.

MATCH STATS

| PORTUGAL | | CROATIA |
|---|---|---|
| 60 | POSSESSION | 40 |
| 2 | Goals | 1 |
| 2.20 | xG | 1.34 |
| 15 | Total shots | 13 |
| 3 | Shots on target | 6 |
| 3 | Big chances | 4 |

Accurate passes: 533 | 312

On the evidence of what Martinez and Portugal's other coaches had seen, the only surprise was they had kept him out for the first 81 minutes. The numbers just do not make for a good reading. He had a total of one touch in the opposition box: the touch was when he scored that penalty. There were no pressing triggers, he didn't engage himself in any duels and his presence in Portugal's build-up was non-existent. To be fair to him, there was one moment when he rolled back the decades with an expertly-taken finish. But by the time he had caressed the ball home, the linesman's flag was already up for offside.

After their first match against Congo ended in a disappointing 1-1 draw, Martinez had queried why he would take off Ronaldo when they needed a goal. He kind of answered his own question on Thursday. While Ruben Neves replaced him with nine minutes to go, his actual replacement was Ramos. The PSG striker, somebody who has won back-to-back Champions League titles, wasted no time in putting himself about. The pressing was instantaneous. Here's a number. Ronaldo registered 16 indirect pressing actions and zero direct pressing actions. For Ramos, that number was 26 and three. He was actively taking part in the Out of Possession phase, something most modern strikers have to do.

When the moment came, the 25-year-old was waiting. Rafael Leao, who was all quick feet and imagination throughout, clipped a delicious cross. Ramos rose highest and diverted the ball beyond the reach of the Croatia goalkeeper and into the bottom corner. It was the kind of header centre-forwards gorge upon when at the top of their game.

So what happens now is the question on the lips of a lot of people. Versus Croatia, even the substitutions were kind of political because Ronaldo wasn't withdrawn for Ramos. The young forward was part of a quadruple substitution in the 62nd minute before he played as the No. 9 after Ronaldo was withdrawn 20 minutes later.

The next chapter could be Ronaldo's last ever international game. Or it could finally set them on their way to the promised land for the first time ever. Monday afternoon against Spain can't come soon enough.

QUICK PASSES

Mahrez hangs boots after loss

VANCOUVER: Riyad Mahrez, a five-time Premier League winner, announced his retirement from international soccer following Algeria's World Cup exit, a 2-0 defeat to Switzerland in the round of 32 on Thursday. "There were good times and difficult times as well, of course. That's part of a career," he said afterward.

Klopp 'willing' to join Germany

BERLIN: The German football federation said it is planning to open talks with former Liverpool manager Jurgen Klopp after "he signaled his willingness in general to take on the role." After the 2014 champions' disappointing exit in the round of 32, head coach Julian Nagelsmann and sporting director Andreas Rettig have stepped down from their positions.

How 'heartbeat' sent Portugal through

ON millions of television screens across the world, a small spike registered. A 'heartbeat'. It was the moment Croatia's World Cup dream ended. Here's an explainer on one of the controversial endings to a World Cup match in history.

Q What was that graph I saw on my screen?
That graph is one of the tools the Video Assistant Referee has at their disposal at this World Cup. It looked like cricket because the technology is more prevalent in the game. Akin to UltraEdge or snick-o-meter, the technology, thanks to a sensor inside the ball used for the tournament, ruled that there was the faintest of touches by a Croatian head (Igor Matanovic) in the build-up to the goal.

Q Was that touch so significant?
Here's why it mattered in the eyes of the officials. When the initial cross was delivered by Ivan Perisic from the left, Mario Pasalic was able to get ahead of his marker before smuggling the loose ball to Josko Gvardiol to finish from close range. The goal initially stood. But it stood because the linesman assumed that there was no other touch in the build up. And, yes, he was onside when the first cross was struck. But when the technology spotted that it brushed the hair of Matanovic, who tried to head the ball en route, Perisic's initial delivery didn't matter anymore. And at the point of impact of ball with Matanovic's head of hair, Pasalic was offside.

Q But didn't the ball flick the head of a defender, Renato Veiga, as well?
Yes, It did. And this is where it becomes a bit hazy and open to interpretation and other referees may have seen the evidence and allowed the goal to stand. But the VAR and the on-referee, deemed that Veiga header in this context was accidental. If it was a deliberate attempt to play the ball, it would have reset the offside phase and the goal would have stood.

XPLAINER

Q How does the sensor inside the ball help?
Most balls used at continental and global tournaments are equipped with chips or sensors to ensure VAR have access to technology. For the last two World Cups, including the current one, there's a 500Hz inertial measurement unit motion sensor. Its official name is Connected Ball Technology, and it offers a range of real-time data to help the officials arrive at a decision.

Q Has this technology been used before?
On a few occasions. Remember when Ronaldo tried to claim a goal at the last World Cup off a header but FIFA said they didn't detect a 'heartbeat'.

Embolo, Ndoye goals behind Swiss hit

ANNE M PETERSON @ Vancouver

SWITZERLAND finally broke through with a win in a World Cup knockout match.

Breel Embolo and Dan Ndoye both scored and the Swiss advanced to the Round of 16 at the World Cup with a 2-0 victory over Algeria on Thursday night.

Switzerland had not won a knockout-round match since 1938 in France, but in 1954 the team won a playoff game to reach the quarterfinals.

Although the Swiss reached the Round of 16 at the past three World Cups, there was a smaller field of 32 teams in each of those tournaments, and they could get no further.

"Today we write one page of history, but we want more, and we work for more," Ndoye said. "I think we show that we are a strong team, and now we need to show it in the next game, and we hope again to the next game." AP

Sudharsan's ton, Devdutt's 94 lead India A to 247/1

GALLE: Opener Sai Sudharsan continued his rich vein of form, notching up a second successive hundred of the series as India A finished Day 2 of the second unofficial Test at a strong 247 for one here on Friday. India A are now trailing by 119 runs, after bowling out their Sri Lankan counterparts for 366 in their first innings. Devdutt Padikkal was equally fluent during his unbeaten 94 off 151 balls. Brief scores: Sri Lanka A 366 in 110 ovs (Arachchige 127; Jain 4/92, Brar 4/77) vs India A 247/1 in 63 ovs (Sai Sudharsan 104 batting, Padikkal 94 batting).

Gukesh rises to joint second spot

ZAGREB (CROATIA): World champion D Gukesh made good use of his white pieces to beat Dutch GM Anish Giri in the final game of the day to rise to joint second spot after the second day of the Zagreb leg of the Grand Chess Tour here. Iranian Grandmaster Firoujza Alireza is at the top by extending his lead by a huge three points. With 10 points in his kitty out of a possible 12, Alireza is far ahead of his rivals.

Dubey guides Bengaluru Blasters to last-ball win

HUBBALLI: Praveen Dubey's unbeaten 64 guided Bengaluru Blasters to a thrilling three-wicket victory over Hubli Tigers off the final ball of the match in the Maharaja Trophy on Friday. Chasing 197, the Blasters recovered from an early collapse before holding their nerve to register their seventh win In another match, Ritesh Bhatkal's unbeaten 75 was the highlight of Mysore Warriors three-wicket victory over Gulbarga Mystics.

Record-equalling Djoko enters last 16

AGENCIES @ London

NOVAK Djokovic equalled Roger Federer's record for most match wins at Wimbledon as the seven-time champion battled past French 25th seed Arthur Rinderknech to reach the fourth round on Friday. The 39-year-old notched his 105th victory at the All England Club, winning 7-5, 6-4, 1-6, 7-6 (4).

Djokovic also tied Federer for most appearances in the last 16 at Wimbledon in the Open era, making the fourth round for the 18th time. He will next face Russian qualifier Roman Safiullin on Sunday for a place in his 66th Slam quarterfinal and 17th at Wimbledon.

SANJU'S POOR RETURNS & VAIBHAV'S PRESENCE

After the first T20I of five-match series ended without a result due to rain, India will take on hosts England in the second match in Manchester on Saturday. A look...

Samson under pressure

Since his hat-trick of fifties in India's last three T20 World Cup matches including the final, Sanju Samson has struggled with the bat. 5, 0, 1 are his scores in the last three T20Is. With Vaibhav Sooryavanshi waiting in the wings, the Kerala wicketkeeper-batter is running out of time to make amends.

Varma's strike rate

Ahead of the Ireland and England series, Tilak Varma was made vice-captain but the left-hand batter from Hyderabad has come under scrutiny for his below-par strike rate since the 2026 T20 World Cup began. The SR has been hovering around 137.38 in the last 12 matches against his overall SR of 142.7. More importantly, he has hit only 12 sixes in the 12 T20Is this year which shows he has miserably failed to accelerate the scoring rate in the death overs.

A GREENER STATE WITH GREATER FUTURE

Uttar Pradesh Is Scripting One Of India's Largest Environmental Transformation Stories

As the world grapples with climate change, environmental degradation, and shrinking green spaces, Uttar Pradesh has embarked on an ambitious journey to balance development with sustainability. Under the leadership of Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath, the state has transformed environmental conservation into a mass movement, one that combines large-scale afforestation, biodiversity protection, river rejuvenation, and community participation. Inspired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi's vision of sustainable development and the nationwide call of "Ek Ped Maa Ke Naam", Uttar Pradesh is steadily expanding its green footprint while creating new opportunities for farmers and local communities. From record-breaking plantation drives and carbon credit initiatives to wetland conservation and wildlife protection, the state is nurturing a greener, healthier, and more climate-resilient future. Today, environmental stewardship is no longer a standalone initiative in Uttar Pradesh it has become an integral pillar of the state's development agenda.

> Tree plantation must evolve beyond a one-time programme into a sustained people's movement. Uttar Pradesh must accelerate its green transformation and achieve 15% green cover by 2030 and 20% by 2047.
> -Yogi Adityanath
> Chief Minister, Uttar Pradesh

A green revolution taking root across Uttar Pradesh

242.13 crore
saplings planted so far

Target: 35 crore
saplings in 2026

- Uttar Pradesh has planted more than 242 crore saplings over the past 9 years.
- Plantation drives have focused on heritage, medicinal, fruit-bearing & commercially valuable species.
- The state aims to plant 35 crore saplings in 2026.
- Government departments, local communities, educational institutions, and citizens have actively participated in these initiatives.

'Ek Ped Maa Ke Naam' becomes a people's movement

Inspired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi's call for environmental responsibility, Uttar Pradesh has recorded the highest participation in the country under the "Ek Ped Maa Ke Naam" campaign.

- More than 26.5 crore saplings planted under the campaign.
- Plantation drives transformed into a mass movement involving citizens, institutions, and local communities.
- GIS mapping, drone monitoring, mobile applications, and scientific planning are being used to ensure better survival rates and transparency.

Creating forests for the future

A diverse network of thematic forests is being established to strengthen ecological awareness and environmental sustainability.

- Amrit Vans have been established across all districts.
- Heritage Tree Parks are being developed to conserve ancient trees.
- Uttar Pradesh is home to 948 heritage trees that are more than 100 years old.

Expanding green cover, enhancing climate resilience

The state's sustained efforts towards afforestation and ecological restoration are delivering measurable environmental outcomes.

- According to the Forest Survey of India (FSI), Uttar Pradesh's green cover has expanded by 3.38 lakh acres over the last nine years.
- Forest and tree cover in the state has increased to 9.96%.
- The government has set an ambitious target of increasing green cover to 15% by 2030.
- Nearly 80% of the saplings planted during the past nine years remain protected and surviving, reflecting effective monitoring and community ownership.

Farmers becoming partners in conservation

UP Govt. provided Carbon Credit payments for trees grown on private land

- Uttar Pradesh has become the first state in India to provide carbon credit benefits for trees grown on private lands.
- Under the Mukhyamantri Krishak Vriksh Dhan Yojana, plantation along farm boundaries is being promoted through MGNREGA.
- Around 2.86 crore farmers registered under PM-Kisan have participated in plantation activities.
- Environmental conservation is being linked with income generation, creating a win-win model for farmers and forests.

Protecting biodiversity, preserving natural heritage

Environmental conservation in Uttar Pradesh extends beyond plantation drives for the protection of wildlife, wetlands & heritage ecosystems.

Uttar Pradesh has declared the Ganga Dolphin as its State Aquatic Animal.

The state has recorded 2,397 Gangetic Dolphins, the highest in India.

India's first Vulture Conservation and Breeding Centre has been established at Campierganj, Gorakhpur.

As today marks the 250th year of American Independence, expats and immigrants in B'luru share their core memories of the Fourth of July and how the holiday has evolved after living in India

STARS, STRIPES & SUMMER SKIES

ANJALI RAM & SRUTHI HEMACHANDRAN

ASK any American in the city what comes to mind when they think of the Fourth of July, and the answers sound more like postcards from summer – fireworks over rivers, hot dogs on the grill, afternoons by the lake and entire town gathering under the starlit night sky. For those who now call Bengaluru their home, those memories have organically travelled with them, blending with new traditions far away from where they began. This year carries added significance as the United States marks the 250th anniversary of its independence. And for most, beyond the official ceremonies, it's reminiscing about the warm summer evenings thousands of kilometres away from the city.

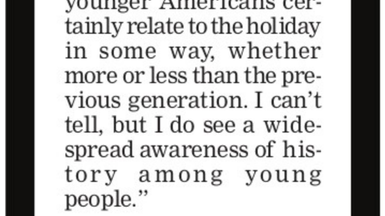
Content creator Tony Klor, who moved to the city about a year and a half ago, notes that the holiday is all about a mix of celebration and history. Growing up, the day meant concerts, fireworks and gathering with family and friends during what he calls America's 'biggest summer moment'. "Everybody wears red, white and blue, feeling super patriotic. Watching spectacular fireworks during his time in New York, surrounded by crowds remains a vivid memory," Klor shares. Like many Americans, he has some of his strongest memories tied to food. "Grilling barbecue, drinking beer and fireworks – that's one of the most typical Fourth of July experiences," he says, adding that it is similar to Holi, when people take to the streets to celebrate. "We try to do funny fusions here. Last year, the peanut butter and jelly idlis were a massive hit. Americans here absolutely adore Indian food," he adds.

For project manager Nicole, an American immigrant who moved to Bengaluru in 2006, living away from home has only strengthened her relationship with the holiday. "The Fourth of July holds more meaning to me now that I don't live in the USA. It's the symbol of family, friends, summer and fun," she says. Now a mother, and having lived in Bengaluru for nearly two decades, Nicole says the city has changed dramatically since she first arrived, noting that the list of comforts from home she misses today is surprisingly short. On finding local ingredients in ooru, she shares, "There are small things that I always bring back that are difficult to find out of North Dakota, like chocolate Twizzlers."

Tony Klor with peanut butter and jelly idlis

Meanwhile, engineer William Thomas McKee, who grew up in Oklahoma, says the day carries a different meaning altogether. "The country is both young and old and has its own history now. The US grants people the freedom to express themselves however they see fit," he says.

His memories of the holiday revolve around lake cabins, swimming races and family traditions that unfold under the summer sun. "At the lakeside, you get a little sunburn because it's hot at this time of year. When I was a kid, I used to engage in swim races with my family. There is also an annual ritual in which watermelons are thrown into the lake, and participants dive in to retrieve them," he shares. However, Rachel Swallwood, who runs Ethic Attic Cafe, says the day has always been defined by togetherness. Growing up, private fireworks were prohibited where she lived, so the entire town would gather in a park for a single large fireworks display. "Families arrived hours in advance, meeting friends they had not seen since school ended for the summer and spending the evening together before the show lit up the sky. It was really the social gathering of the summer," she reminisces.



When it comes to younger generations and the significance of July 4, McKee remains optimistic, stating, "The younger generation is, in some cases, ultra-patriotic, but it's refreshing to see people being proud," adding that public debate and disagreement are equally important parts of that culture. Nicole agrees, stating, "The younger Americans certainly relate to the holiday in some way, whether more or less than the previous generation. I can't tell, but I do see a widespread awareness of history among young people."

An unfinished invitation

FLYLEAF
VR FEROSE

(The author is a technologist based in Silicon Valley who is gently mad about books)

AMERICANS celebrate a nation on July 4. But before there was a nation, there was a document. And before there was a document, there was a printer. America, in many ways, was founded by ink.

On July 4, 1776, a Philadelphia printer named John Dunlap pulled sheets from his press carrying words that would change history. The colonies did not become a nation through armies alone. They became a nation through ideas – ideas fixed onto paper and carried across towns, taverns, churches and public squares.

Even 250 years later, those words continue to reverberate.

That is why I find myself captivated by 'Declare', an extraordinary new publication from Arion Press. More than a book, it is a meditation on the American experiment.

Part artist's book, part historical artifact, part civic conversation, 'Declare' gathers over 100 American hands – writers, artists, printers, binders, woodworkers, designers and craftspeople – to re-engage with the nation's founding text. What makes the project remarkable is not merely its craftsmanship, though that alone is breathtaking. It is the question at its heart: What does the Declaration of Independence mean today?

The answer, like America itself, is complicated. The story begins with wood. Not ordinary wood, but tulip poplar salvaged from trees associated with Monticello, trees that stood witness to centuries of American history. Wood that might easily have been discarded has instead been transformed into medallions, artworks and objects of reflection. Dead trees have become vessels for living ideas. It is an apt metaphor.

Democracies, too, are built from inherited materials. Every generation receives ideals from the past and must decide what to do with them. Preserve them? Reinterpret them? Expand them? Challenge them?

The Declaration invites precisely this kind of engagement. When Thomas Jefferson drafted the document, he was writing in a world dominated by kings, empires and inherited privilege. Against that backdrop, one sentence detonated like intellectual dynamite: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal...." Today, those words feel familiar. In 1776, they were revolutionary.

The Declaration proposed something astonishing: that governments derive their legitimacy not from divine right, hereditary succession, or military conquest, but from the consent of ordinary people.

FOCUS FEATURE

A Centre of Excellence, a Vision for the Future of Engineering Education

One of the questions that often occupies my mind is this: what truly defines excellence in engineering education today?

Is it the curriculum we offer? The infrastructure we build? The technologies we introduce? While all these are important, I believe excellence is ultimately measured by our ability to prepare students for the realities of a rapidly evolving world.

The gap between learning and application has long been a challenge in engineering education. Students acquire knowledge in classrooms, yet the transition from theory to practice often happens only after graduation. In a world where industries are being transformed by digital technologies, sustainability impaeratives, and interdisciplinary collaboration, this model is no longer sufficient.

This understanding led us to establish the Centre of Excellence in Digital Construction Technology at REVA University. From the very beginning, my vision was not to create another specialised laboratory or a standalone facility. I envisaged a dynamic ecosystem where students, faculty members, researchers, and industry experts could come together to learn, innovate, and solve real-world challenges.

A Centre of Excellence should serve as a bridge—connecting academia with industry, knowledge with application, and ideas with impact. Through our collaboration with DivyaSree Developers and partnerships with leading institutions like IISc, IIT, Delhi and Madras, we have sought to create an environment where learning extends beyond conventional boundaries.

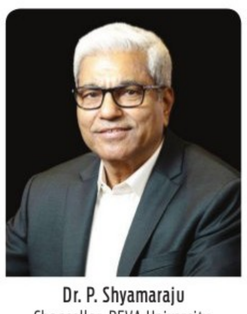
What makes such centres truly valuable is the opportunity they provide for experiential learning. Students gain exposure to live projects, contemporary technologies, and professional practices while pursuing their education. They begin to understand that engineering is not simply about calculations and designs; it is about creating solutions that function effectively in complex, real-world environments.



Dr. P. Shyamaraju
Chancellor, REVA University.

The Centre of Excellence also reflects a larger shift taking place across engineering disciplines. Today's infrastructure projects require collaboration between engineers, architects, designers, technology specialists, and sustainability experts. The future belongs to professionals who can work across domains, understand interconnected systems, and adapt to emerging technologies.

This is why initiatives such as Building Information Modelling (BIM), advanced computational design, digital construction methodologies, and 3D concrete printing are becoming integral to the learning experience. These technologies are redefining the future of construction and infrastructure development, and our students must be prepared not only to use them but to innovate with them. At REVA University, departments including Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, and Architecture are working collaboratively with DivyaSree to integrate these aspects into practical learning and project execution.

Equally important is our commitment to sustainability. Engineering must address not only the needs of the present but also the responsibilities we owe to future generations. Research initiatives involving alternative construction materials and environmentally conscious technologies encourage students to think beyond conventional solutions and develop a deeper appreciation for responsible innovation.

What inspires me most is the culture that emerges within such centres. They become spaces where curiosity is encouraged, experimentation is valued, and learning becomes a collaborative journey. Students are no longer passive recipients of information; they become active participants in discovery, problem-solving, and innovation.

As universities, we must continuously ask ourselves how we can create learning environments that mirror the realities of the professional world. At REVA University, the Centre of Excellence offers one powerful answer. They bring together expertise, technology, research, and industry engagement in a way that enriches the educational experience and prepares students for meaningful careers.

At REVA University, we view the Centre of Excellence in Digital Construction Technology as more than a facility. It represents our commitment to shaping engineers who are technically strong, industry-ready, innovative in their thinking, and conscious of their responsibility to society. The future of engineering education will belong to institutions that can successfully integrate knowledge, technology, and experience. Through our Centre of Excellence, we are striving to create that future today—one where students graduate not only with academic credentials, but with confidence, competence, and vision to build a better world.

Jagdale Secures AFA Licensing Rights in India

Jagdale Industries Private Limited has been appointed the Official Licensee of the Argentina Football Association (AFA) in India, marking a strategic collaboration that brings together the global appeal of Argentine football with Jagdale's focus on innovation and consumer engagement.

The company is known for brands such as DART, an analgesic; MULMINA, India's first ready-to-drink immunity booster; and ONEL, a scientifically formulated coconut water-based hydration drink.

Announcing the partnership, Rajesh Nagaraja Rao Jagdale, Chairman & Managing Director, Jagdale Industries, said, "We are proud to partner with the Argentina Football Association. This collaboration reflects our commitment to creating meaningful value through trusted relationships, innovation and engaging experiences for our customers, partners, healthcare professionals and communities."

FIVE PRACTICES FOR WRIST AND FOREARM STIFFNESS

Long hours of typing, scrolling, driving, or gripping objects can leave the fingers, wrists, and forearms feeling stiff. Gentle movement may help restore mobility and reduce the feeling of tightness, but the wrist should never be forced into pain. Begin with active movements and finish with light stretches.

1. FINGER SPREADS AND SOFT FIST CURLS

Rest the forearms on a table or your thighs. Spread the fingers comfortably, then slowly close the hands into soft fists. Avoid squeezing tightly. Open the hands again and repeat 8 to 10 times.

2. WRIST FLEXION AND EXTENSION

Keep the forearms supported, with the hands extending beyond the edge of a table or resting freely above the thighs. Slowly bend the wrists so the fingers point down, then lift the hands so the fingers point upwards. Keep the fingers relaxed and repeat 8 to 10 times.

3. SIDE-TO-SIDE WRIST MOVEMENT

Keep the forearms still and the palms facing down. Move both hands gently towards the thumb side, return to the centre, and then move towards the little-finger side. Keep the range small and comfortable. Repeat 6 to 8 times.

4. FOREARM ROTATIONS

Bend the elbows to about 90 degrees and keep them close to the sides. Begin with the palms facing down. Slowly rotate the forearms until the palms face up, then turn them down again. Avoid lifting or rotating the shoulders. Repeat 8 times.

5. WRIST AND FOREARM STRETCHES

Extend one arm forward with the palm facing up. Use the opposite hand to guide the fingers gently down for a stretch along the inner forearm. Then turn the palm down and guide the hand towards the floor to stretch the outer forearm. Hold each position for 15 to 20 seconds and change sides.

These practices should create gentle movement or stretching, not pain. Stop if there is sharp pain, swelling, numbness, tingling, or weakness. Persistent or worsening symptoms should be assessed by a doctor or physiotherapist.

The greatness of the Declaration

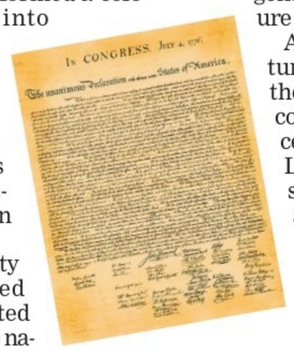
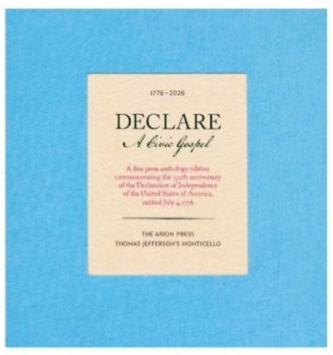
HUMAN beings possess inherent rights. Governments exist to protect them. When governments fail in that duty, people have the right to alter or abolish them. This transformed a colonial rebellion into something larger – a revolution of ideas.

Yet the greatness of the Declaration lies not in its perfection. It lies in its tension.

The same society that proclaimed equality tolerated slavery. The same nation that championed liberty excluded women, indigenous peoples and countless others from its promises. The Declaration did not solve these contradictions. It exposed them. And in doing so, it created a moral standard against which future generations could measure themselves.



Abraham Lincoln returned repeatedly to the Declaration while confronting slavery. A century later, Martin Luther King Jr described its promises as a promissory note that America was yet to fully honour. The Declaration became both inspiration and indictment. It remains both today. That is why 'Declare' feels so timely. The project does not treat the Declaration as a sacred relic sealed behind museum glass. Instead, it presents it as a living conversation.



Writers, artists, military leaders, historians, poets and designers bring their own perspectives to the text. Their contributions are not always harmonious. Nor should they be.

Democracy is not harmony, democracy is participation. One of my favourite elements of the project is its contemporary broadside of the Declaration's preamble. It emerged from a simple observation: a child visiting an exhibition could not read the cursive script of the original document. That moment contains a profound lesson. Every generation must learn to read freedom in its own language.

The Declaration survives not because it is preserved. It survives because it is continually reinterpreted. The Declaration is not a finished achievement. It is an unfinished invitation.

That is perhaps the deepest lesson of both the Declaration and 'Declare'.

An imperfect, unfinished, endlessly demanding idea, that human dignity matters, that power must answer to principle and that a nation, like a finely crafted book, is never truly finished. It is revised, repaired and reimagined by every generation that inherits it.

GRAAMAAYANA

Director: Devanuru Chandru

Cast: Vinay Rajkumar, Megha Shetty,Gopalkrishna Deshpande, Achyuth Kumar, Arun Sagar and Yogesh

RATING 3/5

A COMPELLING RURAL DRAMA BLENDING LOVE, POLITICS AND HUMANITY

A SHARADHAA

POWER is usually imagined in Assembly halls, Parliament or the corridors of government. Graamaayana argues otherwise. It reminds us that power often begins much closer to home: inside a Gram Panchayat office, over a disputed piece of farmland, across committee meetings, in conversations, and sometimes in the simple act of putting a signature on paper.

That is what makes director Devanuru Chandru's film work. Politics is present in the village's everyday life. Graamaayana is not interested in selling an idealised version of rural Karnataka. Friendships carry political loyalties. Families carry old wounds. Land carries memories. Every decision has consequences, and every acre has someone waiting to claim it.

Seena (Vinay Rajkumar) is fondly called Sixth Sense Seena because of his sharp instincts, and yet, he is introduced simply as a youngster who loves his family, spends time with his friends, dreams of owning a tractor, takes up odd jobs, and slowly realises that growing up also means confronting uncomfortable truths. As politics enters his life, Seena becomes our eyes into a village where romance, family honour, friendship and power constantly collide.

Vinay Rajkumar delivers one of his better performances. He never chases hero moments. Instead, he lets Seena's honesty and vulnerability speak for themselves, while allowing his anger to surface when needed. Even when the story demands resistance, Vinay avoids unnecessary theatrics. His restraint makes Seena believable. Megha Shetty is equally convincing as Kusuma, a student who balances education with farming. She is not merely the hero's love interest. Kusuma knows her responsibilities, understands the land, and stands by her convictions. Their romance grows naturally from shared lives rather than cinematic convenience.

As Sadanand Swamy, Gopalkrishna Deshpande brings understated authority, making every calculated move feel consequential.

Yogesh plays Kari Bekku, the village cable operator, with unpredictability. He is not a conventional antagonist but someone shaped by circumstances. Achyuth Kumar lends dignity to the village doctor, while Jahangir, as the journalist, reminds us how information itself becomes power in a close-knit community. Arun Sagar, as Neat Navi, leaves an impression in a key political role.

Aparna, who plays Vinay's mother, delivers one of her strongest performances. A scene of her churning butter from curd captures years of emotion without dialogue. The supporting cast makes the village feel lived in. Almost every resident has a purpose, giving Graamaayana the texture of a real community.

Poornachandra Tejaswi's music becomes part of the storytelling. The opening song captures the culture, traditions, and rhythm of village life, while the remaining tracks blend into the narrative. The songs emerge from the lives of the people rather than interrupting the story. Santhosh Rai Pathaje's cinematography captures rural Karnataka and its traditions with care.

What makes Graamaayana work is how every character belongs to a larger ecosystem. A romance influences politics. A political decision changes families. Friendships become rivalries, and rumours become conflicts. Several incidents, inspired by real events, keep the narrative grounded without becoming predictable.

The film also refuses to let its people off the hook. In one of its sharpest observations, a character says, "Anyone who sells their vote for money has no right to use the RTI." Rather than only questioning those in power, Graamaayana also questions the choices people make and the role they play in shaping the system they later complain about.

However, the film packs in many characters and themes, making it feel slightly stretched in places. Somewhere, Yogesh's character needed more exploration. A few commercial moments soften the intensity of the central conflict. Yet these remain minor distractions in a film that stays committed to its world.

Graamaayana succeeds because it neither romanticises nor judges village life. It celebrates community while exposing prejudice, questions authority without offering easy answers, and reminds us that democracy is shaped long before it reaches the Assembly. It begins in villages, among ordinary people whose everyday choices influence everyone around them.

By the end, Graamaayana becomes a portrait of rural Karnataka, where every life, every battle, and every relationship has the power to shape others.

Graamaayana closes one chapter while leaving a few questions unanswered. The sequel tease feels less like a marketing hook and more like an acknowledgement that this village still has stories left to tell.

A tender exploration of love's many phases

LOVE SEASONS

Director: Kruthvik Shetty

Cast: Mukunda Ramaswami, Diya Keerthi, Chandana Gowda, Shwetha Koglur, Mandya Ramesh, Rajesh Nataranga, Jayathritha, Chetan Durga, Kiladi Sadananda, and Huli Karthi

A SHARADHAA

LOVE stories usually begin with a glance, a meeting or a confession. Love Seasons (Amara Madhura Prema) begins with a diary.

A few handwritten words from Mary (Diya Keerthi) to Ram (Mukunda Ramaswamy) become the emotional thread that binds the film together. From there, debut director Kruthvik Shetty asks a deceptively simple question: What does love really mean?

Kruthvik, who believes one should always rise with love, moves through memories, dreams, the present, and echoes of the past, trusting the audience to assemble the emotional puzzle. It is an ambitious narrative that occasionally lingers longer than necessary, but its emotional conviction keeps the film grounded. More importantly, Kruthvik displays confidence rarely seen in a debut filmmaker, refusing to spoon-feed emotions or chase conventional romantic highs.

At its heart is Ram, an orphan whose greatest strength is his unwavering faith in goodness. His understanding of love begins with the innocence of a schoolboy's first crush. Years later, life places before him a choice that challenges not only his heart but society's idea of acceptance. Mukunda Ramaswamy, in an assured debut, never reaches for dramatic excess. Instead, he builds Ram with restraint, vulnerability and quiet conviction, making his kindness feel earned rather than written. It is a performance that anchors the film's emotional sincerity.

The title Love Seasons is not about the weather. It is a metaphor for the different phases of love that shape a person's life. Ram's journey unfolds through the people he meets, and every relationship marks a different chapter in his emotional evolution. Rashika (Shwetha Koglur), Mary and Pavitra (Chandana Gowda) are not merely love interests. They are experiences that redefine his understanding of affection, heartbreak, hope and acceptance.

One of the film's biggest strengths is that Kruthvik resists reducing these women to convenient archetypes. They are written with flaws, aspirations and emotional complexity, allowing every relationship to leave behind a distinct emotional imprint. The performances complement that writing, with each actor staying true to her character's emotional arc.

Running alongside Ram's personal journey is his dream of becoming a filmmaker. While this thread occasionally slows the narrative, it also lends the film an autobiographical warmth, almost as though Kruthvik is reflecting on his own relationship with cinema.

RATING 2.5/5

Technically, Love Seasons is mounted with sincerity. Veera Samarth's music blends seamlessly into the story, with many of the emotional highs arriving through the songs. The cinematography mirrors Ram's inner journey through changing moods and visual textures that subtly reflect the film's emotional seasons. Kruthvik's writing is another strength. His dialogues never strive for applause. They emerge naturally from the characters and feel lived in. The same understated quality defines his direction. Rather than relying on melodrama, he allows silence, pauses, and small gestures to carry emotional weight.

The film is not without flaws. At nearly two and a half hours, it overstays its welcome in places, and a tighter edit would have sharpened several emotional peaks. A few narrative detours briefly affect the flow before the story regains its footing. Yet even in these uneven stretches, the film never loses its emotional centre.

The film may not reinvent the romance drama, but it never sets out to do so. Instead, it tells a familiar story with uncommon empathy. For a debut feature, that is no small achievement. More importantly, Kruthvik Shetty announces himself as a filmmaker who values emotional honesty over formula. Like the seasons, love changes, returns, surprises, and if we are lucky, teaches us something about ourselves along the way.
